SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—An investigation of charges that Southern Illinois truck operators have been induced to raise a fund of $6000 "to influence certain public officials in Missouri," and thus avoid paying annual fees of $25 to $500, will be made by a subcommittee of the legislative commission on Uniform Motor Vehicle Laws, to be appointed today.

The subcommittee will be named by Senator Louis J. Menges of East St. Louis, chairman of the commission, which voted at a special meeting last night to proceed with the inquiry as suggested by him.

Senator Menges said a group of the truck operators who told him they had contributed to the fund had requested an investigation. He promised a thorough inquiry, pointing out that the commission had the authority to subpoena witnesses, and said the State Bureau of Investigation would be asked to assist if necessary.

Thinks Officials Are Clear.
"I cannot express too forcibly my conviction that Missouri officials are entirely innocent of any knowledge of the whole affair," Senator Menges said. "If the commission finds that either State or Federal statutes have been violated, we will turn the evidence over to the proper grand juries and prosecuting attorneys."

Scott Wilson, chairman of the Missouri Public Service Commission, which collects special fees in addition to the regular motor vehicle license fees paid to the Secretary of State, promised any assistance desired in a telephone call yesterday, Senator Menges said.

Contributions to the fund, it was said, ranged from $5 to $100. Most of the contributors, Senator Menges said, he was told, were small truck owners who owned additional fees, the last $4000 were small, although some owners of large fleets were included.

One truck operator told him, Senator Menges said, that he was told first that only $1000 was needed to "fix us up." After making his donation the word soon came that $2000 was required, and further collections were made. Next, at a meeting in Belleville, it was announced that $4000 more was needed, and again the hat was passed.

The operators understood that the St. Louis lawyers had been retained, that of the amount collected, the last $4000 were placed in escrow, to be paid to the lawyers only if the supposed promises made to influencing Missouri officials were made good by May 15.

First Word About Fund.
Information about the $6000 fund first came to officials here last Wednesday, Senator Menges said. A group of Southern Illinois small truck owners came to Springfield to oppose pending truck legislation at a committee hearing. They were convinced the bills contained no hard provisions as they had come to expect against.

"It looks like we've been misled," Senator Menges quoted a member of the delegation as saying, after terms of the bills had been explained at the committee meeting.

"And that make it look like we've been misled about $6000," another observed.

"But thousands? There wasn't any truck for three tons." Secretary Charles F. Mansfield of the Uniform Vehicle Laws Commission broke in, referring to provisions of a bill under discussion.

"No, no pounds, but dollars," the trucker replied. Soon, the cat was out of the bag.

TIME-AND-HALF OFF
FOR OVERTIME PAYChanges View as to Cash Requirement but Suggests

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, says that overtime compensation required by the Fair Labor Standards Act may be paid with time and one-half off, instead of cash, to persons employed at regular weekly or monthly salaries or wages.

He expressed this view at a press conference yesterday. The act requires employers to compensate employees at the rate of time and one-half for all hours worked in excess of 44 hours a week.

The administrator, after giving his interpretation, said there was some question whether it was correct. "It should be cleared up either by Congress or a court test," he said.

He recalled that he previously had decided that overtime should be paid in cash. But the statute, he explained, contained no specific prohibition against paying the compensation in time off at the time and one-half rate.

Andrews said, however, that time off could not be used to compensate for overtime work of temporary employees.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 19.—United States District Judge Merrill E. Otis today overruled the motion of Robert Wadlow, Alton (Ill.) giant, for a new trial in his $100,000 libel damage suit against Dr. Charles D. Humberd of Barnard, Mo.

Attorneys for Wadlow had maintained that their client had an "unfair" trial.

A memorandum that accompanied the ruling said, "We are sure that the plaintiff had a trial even more fair than he had a right to ask. The only doubts we have in this case are whether we did not rule too favorably for the plaintiff."

of Wife Thursday.

Frank Kennecke, who spent yesterday burning his own and his late wife's belongings, was found dead today in a half-filled bathtub, submerged, at St. Louis, Altenheim.

Kennecke, 76 years old, a former brewery worker, had resided at the Altenheim for 13 years with Mrs. Kennecke. Since her death Thursday he had said he wished to live no longer.

In destroying her belongings, except for a fur coat, he had burned all his own as well except for the night-dress in which he was found and an old swallow-tail suit in which he will be buried.

The elder Werner is one of 13 trucking employers hit by a strike of the F. of L. Teamsters' Union. Young Werner, 20 years old, has worked for his father three years. He belongs to the union. "It's a heart-breaker for me," said the elder Werner. "All our men are loyal. Ed didn't want to do it, but he was compelled by the union. I sent him home, but he was told he had to picket. So I called him back. After all, he has to work with the men."

MEXICO CITY, April 19 (AP).—The bodies of Daniel S. Roosevelt, 21 years old, nephew of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Bronson Harriman (Peter) Rumsey, 22, of Sand's Point, L. I., grandson of E. H. Harriman, the railroad builder, were recovered today from the Rumsey plane which crashed and burned near Guadalupe Victoria Village, Puebla, yesterday. It was reported the bodies were being brought here.

Miss Carlotta Constantine, 21, daughter of Arthur Constantine, International News Service correspondent in Mexico, was in Puebla Hospital. Thrown 50 feet from the plane, she suffered a fracture of the left leg. One arm was burned; it was feared the other was broken. One shoulder was dislocated. She was reported resting well and able to talk with her mother, who went to her from Mexico City.

Both Harvard students.

Miss Constantine was graduated last year from Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y. Rumsey and Roosevelt were Harvard students.

The plane crashed against Mount Lamesa, near the Puebla-Vera Cruz state line, about 2:30 p. m. yesterday, while the party was en route to Yucatan.

A group of Indians made a litter of leather thongs and poles on which they carried Miss Constantine to Guadalupe Victoria, where native women sought to help her. She remained there until 1:30 a. m., when an ambulance carried her to Puebla hospital.

Miss Constantine said the plane ran into a heavy storm and, in attempting to land, swept into some trees and burst into flames. Indians put out the fire with sand and water.

Roosevelt was the son of G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of the President's wife. Young Roosevelt's sister, Eleanor, made her debut in the White House last December. The United States Embassy was informed that Daniel's father would reach Mexico City by plane this afternoon.

Details of the accident were not made known in telephone messages from Guadalupe Victoria, which were relayed to W. L. Morrison, general manager of the Mexican Aviation Co. in Mexico City.

Morrison said the plane left the Mexico City airport at 11:50 a. m. When no report of its arrival came from Vera Cruz, Morrison was starting a check when a message reported the fatal accident.

Rumsey's mother, Mary Harriman Rumsey, was chairman of the Consumers' Advisory Board, which operated under the NRA. She was killed in 1934 when riding to hounds in Virginia. His father, Charles Cary Rumsey, sculptor, was killed in an automobile accident 15 years ago.

Mrs. Roosevelt Cancels Engagements to Return East

The canceled engagements were at Denver, Hutchinson, Kan., and Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. Roosevelt sent a message of sympathy to Daniel Roosevelt's mother, Mrs. John Cutter of Boston.

Conciliatory Speech in House of Lords, Intended for Hitler and Mussolini.AMBASSADOR TO

"Millions Trust for Successful

Roosevelt's Appeal.

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, offered assurance today that Great Britain was not attempting a policy of "encirclement" of the dictator nations of the Rome-Berlin axis.

In a conciliatory speech in the House of Lords, evidently intended to be heard by leaders of the axis, Halifax said:

"As to the cry of encirclement, I would be prepared at any time to give a most solemn undertaking on the authority of the Government that no such idea would ever find a place in British policy."

Halifax also said that Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Germany, would return to Berlin "in the ordinary way" when he had completed his report and period of leave, but he gave no further hint as to when the Ambassador, recalled to London March 17 "to report" after Chancellor Hitler's absorption of Czechoslovakia, actually would return to his post.

"What we all desire to see," Lord Halifax said, "is a comprehensive system against aggression excluding no one who will come in with us. . . . The internal political organization of any country does not matter."

On Roosevelt's Appeal.

Referring to President Roosevelt's appeal to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini for at least 10 years of peace, the Foreign Secretary said:

"As has already been made clear, His Majesty's Government find themselves in the gravest of difficulties with the outlook on international relationships which the President expressed with great clarity and with all the immense authority at his command. I have no doubt that millions of people in all countries will trust that the Government may have a successful outcome."

As Lord Halifax spoke it was authoritatively reported that the cabinet, in a session of more than an hour, had decided to establish a supply department to co-ordinate collection of material for Britain's huge rearmament program.

Establishment of an agency to co-ordinate the purchase of materials for the army, air force and navy was known to have been considered by the Ministers.

Whether the new department would have the status of Government ministry headed by a chief of Cabinet rank was not immediately disclosed.

Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to announce the decision in the House of Commons this week.

Issues Before Cabinet.

The Cabinet session was understood to have considered these further measures:

Adoption of some form of military conscription.

Reorganization of the voluntary national service register—listing of volunteers for emergency jobs in wartime—so as to release additional men for service in the territorial, or home, army.

Inauguration of compulsory military physical training for British youth.

A policy of building deep air raid shelters.

Several ministers, particularly War Minister Leslie Hore-Bellish, are known to regard establishment of the supply ministry as urgent, although some critics have asserted a broad review of requirements to start the ministry would mean an initial delay in arms production.

Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark today definitely set at rest reports that an important position in Washington would be offered him and that he would resign the Governorship to accept it.

In response to a question as to whether he cared to discuss reports emanating from Washington during his visit there last week that he would become Secretary of the Navy or Assistant Secretary, Stark said: "There is absolutely no justification for any rumor that I am going to Washington. My duty to my own people of Missouri comes first. I would not desert them in this critical time when we are about to win our war on crime."

He declined to discuss the possibility that he might seek a place on the National Democratic ticket in 1940.

When asked whether Attorney General Murphy had given him any assurance that Federal investigations in Missouri would be continued, he said:

"Yes, every assurance was given me by the Attorney-General of the United States that there would be no letup and no compromise with crime by the United States Department of Justice—that I could let the people of Missouri know that in this death-struggle with a desperate criminal organization, nothing could stop the Federal Government."

Jean Nelson, interviewed for the Veterans' Administration at Veterans' Hospital, Jefferson Baracks, was found dead of asphyxiation this morning in his automobile, on Dougherty Ferry road near Ballas road, St. Louis County.

A piece of garden hose was attached from the exhaust pipe to a rear window of the car. There was a shotgun, which had not been used, in the rear seat.

Ray J. Cunningham, attorney for the Veterans' Administration, said Nelson had been nervous and melancholy since he was severely injured in an automobile accident six months ago. He was 43 years old and lived at 31 Hardish Hill court, Rock Hill Village, with his wife and 14-year-old daughter.

VATICAN CITY, April 19 (AP).—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, commenting on President Roosevelt's peace appeal to Hitler and Mussolini, says that "considering the decisively hostile reception, it must be stated that international tension has been aggravated at least from the psychological point of view."

The newspaper says that though the President's message created no new situation in world affairs, it resulted in an outburst of acrimony between two sides.

"It will be necessary to pass beyond the current phase of flaming polemics to see if this attempt at mediation will bear any practical results," the paper says.

Information on Czech Annexation, Liberal Says.

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Geoffrey Mander (opposition Liberal), perennial questioner in the House of Commons, demanded today to know how President Roosevelt "knew all about" German intentions to annex Czechoslovakia when the British Government apparently did not.

Foreign Affairs Undersecretary Richard Butler replied that "the British Government is as well informed as any other government."

Mander apparently was referring to the American President's intimation at a Florida press conference on Feb. 18 that he might break his Southern vacation because of the gravity of the international situation.

Germany absorbed Czechoslovakia in March.

In the House of Lords, after other peers had paid the President glowing tributes, Lord Ponsonby, Laborite, criticized the Roosevelt peace appeal of last Saturday, saying the message appeared to have been issued "for the object of putting the dictators in a dilemma." He continued: "It seems difficult to see how any form of conciliation can be advanced in this way. It is very doubtful whether this form of diplomacy is a wise one in the existing circumstances. It may well further exacerbate the difficulties between us."

MOSCOW, April 19 (AP).—"An appeal 'to raise a powerful voice in the defense of shattered rights of freedom and independence of all peoples' was addressed to the League of American Writers today by the Executive Committee of Soviet Writers."

The appeal was made in connection with the forthcoming congress of the League of American Writers in New York June 2.

The message reminded the Americans that "160 years ago, when the young American people fought for its independence, the best people of Europe came to the aid of democracy across the seas; writers of all countries propagandized the ideals of the American revolution; any attempt to hide in the shade of non-intervention, neutrality or isolation has become mockery."

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Charges that a 30-year-old armaments worker sold vital secrets of a Royal Ordnance factory to Germany, aided by the German Consul at Liverpool, were made at a court hearing today at Chorley, Lancashire.

The defendant, Joseph Kelly, was accused of selling the factory site plan and other secrets stolen from the armaments plant for £20 (about $140). He was held for trial under the Official Secrets Act.

Prosecutor G. R. Palling said Kelly got in touch with the German Secret Service with the aid of the Consul and then went to Cologne, Germany, to deliver the secrets. The Consul's name was not given and it was understood he was no longer in this country.

Palling said one document had been recovered but that another still was missing.

"A bomb accurately placed on that factory would cause untold havoc and loss of life," the prosecutor said. "The plan would prove of greatest assistance to an enemy bombing squadron."

Palling said Kelly had spat out a bit of chewed paper when arrested on his return from Germany and this, the prosecutor said, proved to be a copy of a code given him in Germany.

1142 Passengers on Big Ships; Visibility Only Few Yards.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—The worst fog of the spring, reducing visibility to a few hundred yards, tied up harbor traffic today and delayed five liners carrying a total of 1142 passengers. The fog began yesterday and grew heavier today.

The Ile de France had been expected to dock last night, but was still anchored near Ambrose Channel this morning. The Red Star liner Westernland was delayed, as were the Anchor liner Cameronia, the United States liner American Banker and the Puerto Rico liner Puerto Rico. All regular flights at the Newark airport were grounded through the night.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 19 (AP).—The joint army and navy air maneuvers, scheduled to test the vulnerability of the coast from a naval attack, were postponed today because of a misty fog that grounded all planes.

LE HAVRE, France, April 19 (AP).—The liner Paris, once the flagship of the French merchant fleet, keeled over and settled in 35 feet of water today, burned through by fire which officials suspected was set by foreign saboteurs.

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured in the night-long fight against the flames which firemen said spread from two widely separated parts of the ship. One point of origin was behind locked doors.

An investigation has been begun to determine if sabotage was responsible. The theory was advanced by the Paris crew was that a series of fires in the 34,000-ton liner. They based their theory, they said, on the rapid spread of the blaze through corridors and cabins in the upper decks, and in small service closets, where were kept gasoline and wax for cleaning.

Coal Fire Left Burning.
Bakers admitted they left a coal fire burning in a cake oven before quitting the ship last night, but one investigator said, that even if this were a contributing cause.

"We believe there is evidence to support sabotage. We know there was one fire set. We think there were two. There may have been as many as five or six."

An Algerian dock worker, held for several hours, was released but all of the Paris crew was being rounded up for questioning.

Louis de Chappedelaine, Minister of Merchant Marine, arrived to supervise the investigation.

Two days ago the Surete National, the French secret police, warned both the French Line, owners of the Paris, and the Ministry of Merchant Marine that an effort at sabotage would be made at Le Havre.

The Paris was destroyed despite precautions taken in response to that warning.

Warplane Shipment Saved.
A shipment of 10 war planes made in the United States for the French army was taken off the vessel only an hour before it listed and sank in the center of the port. The planes had not been unloaded from the Paris, which arrived from New York Saturday, when the fires started.

French officials said after a quick check that only one case in the $500,000 shipment of art treasures consigned to the World's Fair in New York had been damaged. Two million dollars' worth of jewels were saved.

Fire fighters said the main blaze originated in the ship's bakery. The heavy door of the bakery was locked and firemen had to hack it open. Meanwhile the fire gained uncontrollable headway. The other blaze started in the barber shop, two decks above the bakery.

With her superstructure eaten away by the fires that started at 10 o'clock last night, the Paris began to list heavily at dawn and a little later was straining at her ropes at a 30-degree angle.

Breaks Loose and Settles.
Suddenly the liner wrenched loose from her moorings, turned on her side and settled slowly in the center of the port. The starboard side belled out of the water, with smoke still pouring from the hull. Firemen remaining aboard the nearly submerged liner said at 11:30 a. m. (5:30 St. Louis time), they had succeeded in putting out the last of the flames more than 13 hours after they had started.

The Paris was floating just off the bottom, lying on its side squarely in front of the new Le Havre

BERLIN, April 19 (AP).—Reichsfuehrer Hitler had a long talk today with Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu of Rumania in the chancellery. Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, who had talked to Gafencu earlier, was present.

Rumania is one of the countries which has received guarantees of its independence from Great Britain and France.

Newspapers said of Gafencu's conference with Von Ribbentrop that the "friendly talks revealed far-reaching consonance."

Meanwhile, as official sources denied rumors that the Free City of Danzig would be handed to Hitler tomorrow as a present on his fiftieth birthday, and as 25 warships of the German fleet steamed toward Spanish waters for spring maneuvers, the attention of the German people was centered on plans for the two-day birthday celebration.

Hands still were busily at work completing profuse street decorations, garlanding and beflagging the houses, for the celebration that starts at 5 p. m. today.

The celebration will start with the Goebbels Applauds Fuehrer.

Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels told the German people tonight that "Adolf Hitler has pointed out a new way for the historical development not only of his country but for that of Europe."

"The name of Adolf Hitler is a political program for the entire world," Goebbels said in his broadcast in which he summoned the nation to celebration of the Fuehrer's birthday.

at this stage. The ministers fear compulsory military service would antagonize a large section of the trade union movement.

It is believed, however, that the Government would approve a system of compulsory physical training for youth under the joint direction of the boards of health and education as a measure of war preparedness.

There appears to be small likelihood the Government will adopt a policy of building big air raid shelters deep underground.

Steel Shelters for Lawns.

Sir John Anderson, Minister of Civilian Defense and as such Minister of Air Raids Precautions, rejected a $7,000,000 plan for deep shelters submitted by the borough council of Islington, north London suburb.

Anderson said "there would not be any real prospect of all inhabitants gaining access to the shelters within the warning period."

Instead, the Government has distributed small "spitfire proof" steel shelters for individual lawns.

Britain has established a system of regional commissioners who would handle home defense organization in wartime, with absolute power in civil defense if communication with Government departments should be cut off.

Anderson announced the appointments, with England, Scotland and Wales divided into 12 regions. The scheme is a means of decentralizing authority of all Government departments involved in air raid precautions should air attacks disrupt communication lines.

Meanwhile diplomatic activity to secure fresh pledges in the British-French system of guarantees against German-Italian expansion continued in London.

Nothing to Report.

Chamberlain told the House that Britain still was in close contact with other governments about enlarging the French-British front, but he had nothing to report on the progress of conversations.

Pressed to include China and other Far Eastern governments in his bloc of nations, he said he would bear in mind the "desirability" of such a move.

Richard A. Butler, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House that "there has recently been a substantial increase in the number of men under arms in Italy and a corresponding increase of the forces in the Dodecanese Islands." He gave no figures.

Political quarters said an effort was being made in Moscow to secure individual pledges by Soviet Russia to nations of the French-British front to give military aid when requested.

In Sofia and Ankara, Turkey was urging Bulgaria to join the London-Paris coalition.

If Russia agrees to send warplanes to the aid of Poland or Rumania in time of need, and to Turkey, it is believed Turkey and Bulgaria will join the alliance.

Vegetarian 60 Years, Dies at 87.

BRIGHTON, England, April 19 (AP).—Henry S. Salt, 87 years old, vegetarian whose writings influenced the Indian leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi, to abstain from meat, died from a complication of diseases yesterday. He had said he had not eaten meat for 60 years.

out the Polish Corridor would not be accepted, Dr. Viktor Boettcher, leader of the Nazi-dominated Danzig Senate, said last night.

"Sooner or later Danzig will return to the Reich," he said. "We know Poland will be conciliatory and negotiations will be successful. At any rate, Danzig must also have the Polish Corridor for its economic existence, and return of the city alone is not feasible."

A high authority intimated that Danzig Nazi leaders might make a symbolic presentation of the free city to Chancellor Hitler on his birthday Thursday, but that Germany would await completion of negotiations with Poland before taking any positive steps to effect the union.

FRANCE EXPECTS RUSSIA QUICKLY TO ACCEPT PACT

Bonnet Has Steadfast Hope That Road Opened by Roosevelt Will Lead to Peace.

PARIS, April 19 (AP).—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet told the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies today that the French Government had "steadfast hope that the road opened" by President Roosevelt's appeal to Hitler and Mussolini would "lead to peace."

A communique said Bonnet praised the Roosevelt's initiative as a length. He also told the Deputies that French efforts to assure Soviet Russia aid to Poland, Rumania and Turkey in the event of war should soon "reach a rapid and satisfactory conclusion."

Negotiations with Russia, he said, are "aimed against no one but were 'designed solely to maintain peace.'"

He declared that French efforts to bring Poland and Rumania together also were "proceeding satisfactorily."

Deputies said that in informal questioning Bonnet expressed a hope that the United States neutrality act would be changed soon.

He said French relations with Nationalist Spain recently had been "considerably improved." He declared that Jose Lequerica, the Spanish Ambassador, had given assurances that the French Communist Deputy, Charles Tillon, and the French Consul at Alicante would be released "without delay."

Spain Gives Assurance.

France obtained assurances from Burgos, political informants said last night, that troop movements within Spain and to Spanish Morocco were aimed neither at France nor Britain.

The Spanish Ambassador, Jose Felix Lequerica, told Bonnet, these sources said, that return of large forces of Moroccan troops to Spanish Morocco was merely a step in post-war demobilization and, contrary to reports in France, troops had not been sent to the border of French Morocco.

Diplomatic sources reported that both the French and British were concerned over the movement of a German naval squadron into Spanish waters.

The German pocket battleships of the Deutschland type, they said, were ideal "raiders" since they carried larger guns than cruisers of the French and British Navy and were faster than most French or British battleships.

Might Cut Supply Lines.

In case of war, diplomatic sources said, these German warships might be able to cut British-French supply lines with the Americas while a German submarine fleet kept the German Baltic and North Sea ports open.

Diplomatic Adviser Arrives.

Sir Robert Vansittart, chief diplomatic adviser to the British Government, has arrived in Paris. His visit is said to be strictly private.

Spanish Nationalist sources expressed resentment over what they called unnecessary delay by the French in handing over to the Burgos Government gold and war supplies which defeated Spanish Republicans brought into France.

60,000 Moroccan Troops Are Near Tangier Zone.

TANGIER, April 19 (AP).—French authorities at Rabat, Morocco, last night took a grave view of developments in Spanish Morocco where 60,000 Moroccan troops were said to be massed about 14 miles from the Tangier international zone.

The Moroccans have returned from Spanish service, and an official said, will constitute a danger to this completely disarmed international zone, until demobilization.

Tangier residents did not show nervousness, however.

HUNGARY PLEDGES SUPPORT TO THE ROME-BERLIN AXIS

Yugoslavia Reported Taking Initial Steps Toward Agreement—Rumania Is Also on Program of Mussolini.

Bonnet Has Steadfast Hope That Road Opened by Roosevelt Will Lead to Peace.

ROME, April 19 (AP).—Italy, maneuvering with Germany for position in the current European crisis, appeared today to have bound Hungary firmly to the Rome-Berlin axis.

In diplomatic circles it was said that the axis also had achieved at least initial success in drawing Yugoslavia into its orbit, through its ties with Hungary.

The Hungarian Premier, Count Paul Teleki, in an after dinner toast to Premier Mussolini last night at Palazzo Venezia, declared his country was "faithful to the policy of the axis which Hungary has spontaneously adopted."

Mussolini, in a similar speech, reaffirmed a friendship which "unites the strength of each country in the defense of order and peace."

The exact nature of yesterday's Italian-Hungarian conferences remained secret but observers in Rome assumed they touched on Hungary's desire for growth like that of Italy and Germany.

Hungary's Main Claims.

Having tasted of expansion by her absorption of Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) and part of Slovakia in the dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary's main claims are centered now on Western Rumania and Northern Yugoslavia where its territories once part of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

The major business of the official visit to Rome of Teleki and Foreign Minister Stephen Csanaky was believed to have been concluded in a two-hour conference yesterday at Palazzo Venezia. The Hungarians talked with Mussolini and Foreign Minister Ciano.

They were invited today to a mineral exposition demonstrating progress in the Fascist self-sufficiency campaign and a gymnastic exposition by Fascist youth. Tomorrow they will leave for Berlin.

Csanaky on Roosevelt Plea.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, published an interview with Csanaky in which the visitor was quoted as calling President Roosevelt's non-aggression appeal "an unwelcome surprise."

"I believe there do not exist two Hungarians in the world who have been able to forget the story of the 14 points of the late President Wilson," Csanaky said.

"All Hungarians whether they live in Hungary or are still outside the Hungarian borders remember every moment of their lives the unfortunate 14 points."

They do not forget, that the treaty of Trianon (which ended the World War for Hungary and fixed its diminished boundaries) was the result of the 14 points because there is no one that does not see that the effects of the precarious peace established on that base still continue to poison day by day the lives of individuals and relations among peoples.

"Wilson's interference is too recent and its results too tragic for us all not to feel in our bones a sense of resentment for what has happened damaging effective peace as a result of the Trianon treaty."

"And this explains how I, for example, feel myself incapable of judging without clear prejudice the American interference in the affairs of Central-Europe."

Hungary was one of the 31 nations to which Mr. Roosevelt asked Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler to pledge non-aggression.

Further Conversations Planned.

The axis diplomatic campaign, which began last week with German Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's visit to Rome, will continue, after the scheduled Thursday departure of the Hungarian Premier and his Foreign Minister, with Italian-Yugoslav and Italian-Rumanian talks.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Alexander Cincin-Markovich will come to Venice on Saturday to see Ciano, and arrangements were being made to receive Rumanian Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu, now in Berlin on a tour of European capitals.

Political circles believe Italy is about to make fresh overtures to bring Yugoslavia into the Rome-Berlin camp to counter the system

CRITIC IN HOUSE CALLS RIVERFRONT PLAN 'INIQUITOUS'

Rich, Pennsylvania, Assails Revival of $6,750,000 Appropriation for St. Louis Memorial.

CITES FRAUD EXPOSE BY POST-DISPATCH

Declares Vote Padding Followed Pendergast Pattern—to Try to Cut Out Item in Conference.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — Denouncing the Jefferson Riverfront Memorial in St. Louis as an "iniquitous scheme," Representative Robert F. Rich (Rep., Pennsylvania), said today he would attempt when the Interior Department appropriation bill goes to conference to have the amendment reapportioning $6,750,000 for the memorial struck out.

On the floor of the House, Rich read a statement reviewing in detail the background of the memorial plan and praising the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for exposing the frauds that occurred in the election at which the city's memorial bond issue was approved.

"This amendment should not be approved," Rich said of the amendment added to the Interior bill at the last minute by Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri. "If the House does approve it, it will undoubtedly be interpreted by the people behind this St. Louis bond issue election to fade out with the memorial in the eternal shadows."

Ballot Boxes Stuffed.

The memorial, Rich said, is "only a real estate unloading scheme." The vote fraud exposures in St. Louis, he told the House, closely follow the "pattern of the Pendergast machine in Kansas City."

"Ballot boxes were stuffed, names were forged on the precinct poll lists and other irregularities took place," he declared. "The corruption never has been completely exposed in this St. Louis case. It is accepted there as the inevitable result of the Dickmann machine."

The Senate has not yet named conferees to consider the Interior appropriation bill and it is not probable that the measure will be considered in final form until some time next week, Rich is one of the conferees for the House.

Because of the lapse of time it was necessary to reappropriate the $6,750,000 in Federal funds which had been made available.

"Already," Rich said, "more than one-half of the St. Louis contribution ($2,250,000) has been spent to maintain a staff of 104 technicians and advisory experts who are now working in St. Louis preparing plans for some kind of memorial. The money which you are asked to appropriate would not at best begin to pay for wrecking the buildings on the site. Next year and for many years thereafter you would have the St. Louis promoters on the heels of Congress, dragging their footsteps for more and more money."

Officials of the Department of the Interior have said that only comparatively small sums have been spent out of the $6,000,000 that has been made available by city and Federal governments.

7 HIGH SCHOOL BOYS REPORT ATTACK BY BAND OF NEGROES

McBride Students Treated at City Hospital for Bruises and Lacerations After Fight.

Seven students of the McBride High School were treated at City Hospital Monday afternoon for bruises and lacerations of the face suffered, they told police, when they were attacked when on their way home by 15 Negro youths in the 4300 block of Maffitt avenue.

Joseph Walsh, 17 years old, 4206 Maffitt avenue, one of those injured, told police one of the assailants pointed him out and said to a companion: "Is he the one who hit you the other day?" The reply was, "yes," Walsh continued, and the Negro then attacked.

Walsh said that Friday afternoon in the same neighborhood a Negro youth came up to him, and with other provocation, started a fight.

BRITISH MAP TACTICS IN MEDITERRANEAN

To Patrol Eastern Section and France Western, According to Reports.

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—A high authority said today Britain and France had agreed on division of responsibility in the Mediterranean during wartime—the British navy to patrol the eastern end and French warships to guard the western or Gibraltar section. This would account for the present concentration of French warships off Gibraltar, which started after Berlin announced the Nazi fleet would hold spring maneuvers off the Spanish coast.

Spain's demobilization of 210,000 of its 1,000,000 soldiers, and its assurances to the French Government that troop movements near Gibraltar and to Spanish Morocco were not aimed either at France or Britain, are quieting factors in the Mediterranean situation.

Spanish authorities in Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, are reported to have assured the British Consul-General in Tangier that there is no truth to rumors of an impending occupation of the international zone.

The War Office acknowledged that a number of troops had been moved back from Palestine to Egypt. This followed strengthening of Italian forces in African Libya. The troops normally are stationed in Egypt, but were sent to Palestine during the disturbances there.

Colonial Minister Malcolm MacDonald told Parliament yesterday that progress had been made in quelling Arab uprisings there, and he believed the defense of Egypt and the Suez Canal was more important at the moment.

The troops Somerset, carrying approximately 2000 British soldiers to Palestine, today was ordered to remain at Gibraltar until the arrival there of the First Battalion of the Welsh Guards regiment. The latter will leave about April 22, having been ordered last Saturday to reinforce the garrison of Gibraltar.

Negroes then attacked.
Walsh said that Friday afternoon in the same neighborhood a Negro youth came up to him, and without provocation, started a fight.
Others injured Monday besides Walsh were: William Thompson, 16, of 3909 Maffitt avenue; James

$173,000 W P A GRANT FOR WORK IN PARKS 2500 PUPILS MARCH IN CLEAN-UP PARADE

2680 Men to Be Employed for Month to Continue Improvements.

A WPA grant of $173,213 for improving St. Louis parks and play grounds was approved yesterday at Washington, providing sufficient funds to employ 2680 men for a month to continue work now being done.

The grant was for one-fourth of the $692,854 which has been approved by the Department of Public Welfare to complete the work.
Approval of the remainder has been held up because the city has made available only $72,303 for materials.

L. E. Greathouse, WPA director for St. Louis, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that it was hoped the remainder of the request could be approved later under an arrangement whereby the city would furnish additional funds as its share of the project. The present grant will enable the work to continue until some time in June, since there already is money at hand from previous grants to last several weeks.

At present 1475 men are employed on such improvements as landscaping, park drives, bridge paths, tennis and handball courts and repair of lagoons. The additional workers under the new grant will be transferred from other WPA jobs which are about to expire.

State licenses of three Kansas City night spots for violation of the State liquor control law.
He revoked the license of Sol Stibel, operating the Reno Club, after a hearing on charges of selling liquor after hours and on Sunday, and of maintaining a disordly place. The license of T. J.
Rillielo, operating the Roosevelt Bar, charged with selling liquor on a 5 per cent beer permit, and Tony Bengimla, operating the Oriental Club, charged with selling liquor after hours and maintaining a disorderly place, were revoked after they failed to appear for a hearing on the charges.

22 ARE INDICTED IN DOPE INQUIRY AT KANSAS CITY

U. S. Grand Jury Returns 33 True Bills After Investigation of Drug Ring
—Some Kept Secret.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19.—
Thirty-three indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury today, charging at least 22 persons with violations of the narcotics laws, in connection with disclosure last week of widespread sales of habit-forming drugs here. Some of the indictments were kept secret.
Angelo Donnici, who has been called by Federal agents the head of a syndicate distributing narcotics through the Western half of the United States, was named defendant in seven of the indictments. He is 64 years old.

Others classified by Federal authorities as leaders of the narcotics ring who were named in indictments were: Angelo (Bossie) Nigro, saloon keeper, alleged to have been one of the most important drug wholesalers; Charles Caplan, ranked as Donnici's chief lieutenant; Jack Ancona, charged with wholesale distribution, who, as a Deputy Constable, has had the legal privilege of carrying a revolver, and James (Gigga) Pig Abbott, 440-pound alleged drug peddler.

Negro Named in Seven.

There were seven indictments naming Niagro, including six of three counts each; five against Caplan with three counts each; one of three counts against Ancona and one of six counts against Abbott. Ancona was under $10,000 bail on an earlier narcotics charge.
Six men — Tony Mangiaracina, Robert Sain, William Meehan, James Smith, William Jacobs and John Cicciari — were indicted along with Niagro on a charge of conspiracy to violate the narcotics laws. Another defendant in the series of cases was Mike Li Causi, saloon keeper.

Two women were among 10 persons charged with possession and sale of small amounts of narcotics.
Defendants in this group were Anthonny Strada, George Baker, Raymond Scott, James Niagro, Bertha Sullivan, Bedford Sullivan, Testena
Seymour, Tony George, Margaret Spiano and Ella Yarnall.

All of the indictments were based on the Harrison Anti-Narcotics Act or the Jones-Miller Act.

The indictments resulted from nearly a year of secret investigation by Federal narcotics agents, who said to reporters that the ring here was the largest found in recent years. Kansas City was the distribution point for heroin sales estimated at $1,000,000 a month.

One agent declared that he and a companion had "slept, ate, and drunk" with the ring since last summer. "Our lives wouldn't have been worth a cent if we had been found out," he remarked. Posing as a horse race gambler, he was able to buy heroin and other narcotics to a total value of more than $45,000. At one time he and the agent working under cover with him were arrested by the police as suspicious persons and questioned at great length.
They refrained from disclosing their identity.

Pendergast Inquiry Interrupted.
Action on the narcotics cases by the grand jury temporarily interrupted the Federal investigation of the business affairs of Boss Tom Pendergast, who is under indictment on a charge of evading Federal income taxes in connection with the fire insurance rate compromise.

As the principal line of inquiry was resumed this afternoon, Henry Warren, vice-president of Sanitary Service, Kansas City garbage collection firm, was called before the grand jury.

Walter W. Head, president of the General American Life Insurance Co., St. Louis, was present today under subpoena for appearances before the jury, but was excused until tomorrow. He had no comment to make on his being called. He was accompanied by John R. Griffith, of the general American legal department, who said he did not expect to testify.

Lester Jordan, president of Sanitary Service Co., was before the jury nearly all day yesterday. Other business associates of Pendergast, Edward L. Schneider, secretary-treasurer of the Ready Mix Concrete Co. and of the W. A. Ross Construction Co. and Gus Main, president of the Kansas City Concrete Pipe Co., are waiting to testify.

Another witness yesterday was William T. Ragland of Jefferson City, who was an attorney for 74 fire insurance companies which pretended for the State court approval of the O'Malley rate compromise in 1935. Attorney-General Roy Mc-Kendrick has said that it was Ragland, a former State Supreme Court Judge, who first came to him with a copy of the compromise agreement.

Ragland was in the jury room 40 minutes. On leaving he said he planned to return to Jefferson City.

A physician told police that Berger, who had been under treatment for a nervous ailment, had threatened to end his life several times in recent months. Berger was 41 years old.

REVERE AND DAWES RIDE AGAIN TO WARN 'BRITISH ARE COMING'

Famous Dash Re-Enacted on 164th Anniversary of Lexington and Concord.

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—Paul Revere and William Dawes galloped through the countryside again today as Boston celebrated Patriots' day, 164th anniversary of the battles of Concord and Lexington.
Two National Guardsmen in Colonial costumes impersonated the riders who awakened Massachusetts farmers to the coming of the British on the 19th of April in 1775.

Services were held at the graves of Revere and Dawes in Boston as the day's ceremonies opened, and Mayor Maurice J. Tobin then handed "Revere" a message to be carried to Lexington.

Ceremonies also were held at Lexington Green where Capt. Parker told his Minute Men, "Don't fire unless fired upon, but if they mean to have a war, let it begin here," and at Concord Bridge where was fired "the shot heard 'round the world." Gov. Leverett Saltonstall spoke at both places.

neers, $4000.

THREE ARRESTED, CONFESS HOLDING UP RESTAURANT

They Admit of Police They Divided $72; Proprietor Says They Got $237.

Three young men were arrested yesterday for the holdup early Monday of the Asia Restaurant, 712 Market street, after police learned they had been seen in several taverns with a former employee of the restaurant. Police said the men admitted taking part in the robbery.

Nin Young, proprietor, said the robbers took $237. In their statements to police, the men asserted they divided $72, but said it was possible they had dropped some money in fleeing from the place.
Warrants will be sought.

STATEMENT BY PATTI ISSUE IN MURDER TRIAL

State Seeks to Introduce Admission He Killed Wife With Knife.

The State will seek to introduce Salvatore Patti's statement to police that he killed his wife, Lucille, with a knife during an argument last July when Patti's trial, on a charge of second degree murder, is resumed before a jury in Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy's court today. Defense counsel indicated that introduction of the statement would be opposed on grounds it was obtained through duress.

Mrs. Patti's body was found in a vacant lot at Eleventh and Howard streets shortly before midnight on July 27. Dr. D. L. Harris, autopsy physician, describing her wounds to the jury, said her throat had been cut from ear-to-ear, that there were cuts on the nose and forearm and that a deep wound in one hand indicated she had grasped the knife in an effort to ward off the murderous assault.

Testimony that Patti led his wife's son by a former marriage and that he was out on the lot at Eleventh and Howard after reporting that she was missing was giving at the opening of the trial yesterday by Nathan di Bella, the son-in-law. Patti appeared at his home at 1421 North Fourteenth street, about 10:30 p. m., Di Bella testified, and asked him and Joseph Gahr, Mrs. Patti's son, to join him in a search for her.

"We went to several places in the neighborhood and to her daughter's home at 2124 North Eleventh street, but didn't find her," the witness related. "On the way back we passed the lot at Eleventh and Howard streets and Patti called our attention to a woman in the weeds.
He sent Joe Gahr for the police."

Patrolman John J. Roland testified that young Gahr approached him at Hadley and Montgomery streets and told him there was a drunken woman in the lot on Eleventh street. Roland said he walked to the lot with the youth and turned his flashlight on the body.

Gahr cried out, "That's my mother," and started to run, the officer testified. Patti, who had been standing about 50 feet away, came up, exclaimed, "Oh, my God!"
and fainted, Roland related.

Patti, a railroad laborer, 33 years old, was arrested after police learned that he and his wife, who was 38, had quarreled at their home, 1419 Blair avenue, before going out together about 8:30 o'clock that night. Patti told police he entered this country illegally in 1929, coming from Italy as a sailor. He and Mrs. Patti were married six years ago after she divorced her first husband.

369 DROPPED FROM W P A IN ST. LOUIS AND COUNTY

Needs of 29,333 Workers Investigated by Administrator's Office Here.

Investigation of the needs of WPA workers has resulted in the dismissal of 369 persons in St.
Louis and St. Louis County, Lloyd E. Greathouse, administrator, announced today. The St. Louis office investigated 29,333 cases.

It was announced at Washington that 37,404 of the 292,662 enrolled workers had been fired following the investigation, made in compliance with a congressional order. Of this number, 1372 were fired in Missouri.

Most dismissals here were based on the fact that workers had employment on other jobs or other income, Greathouse said. Forty persons were fired after they failed to answer requests to appear for questioning.

Fred Austin, administrator in charge of the 10-county East St.
Louis area, said about 800 persons had been dismissed there.

SAFELOWERS LEAVE TOOLS Three Men trying to Enter Place Are Frightened Away.

ter being observed by Jack Camp-

Police found a metal suitcase, abandoned near the door, which contained an acetylene torch, rubber hose, goggles and other accessories used to blow open safes.

U. S. BOARD PLANS FISCAL REPORT ON LARGE UTILITIES

Purpose Is to Increase Distribution of Low-Cost Services and to Strengthen National Defense.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—John W. Scott, Federal Power Commissioner, said today the administration planned to make public soon the financial and operating statistics of every large public utility in the country.

The purpose, he told members of the Federal Bar Association in an address, was to speed up regulatory and corrective measures designed to increase distribution of low-cost public utility services and to strengthen national defense.

"There can be no doubt," he said, "that the nation which has an abundance of low-cost public utility services has an economic advantage, and at the same time, possesses great weapons of national defense."

A serious obstacle to the prospect, he said, is possible treatment of the regulatory process by the courts.

"If the so-called fair value theory of rate making," he explained, "is to include consideration of the cost of reproduction (of facilities)... then long, expensive conjecture, speculation and guessing will be inevitable."

"The Federal Power Commission... on two occasions has urged the Supreme Court of the United States to permit in its stead the use of the prudent investment theory."

Scott said that in making the data public the commission hoped to correct "certain abuses" such as inflated capital structure both in securities and in plant investment. For many years, he charged, electric and gas utilities have followed haphazard and promiscuous methods of setting up depreciation reserves.

"The monopoly profit motive is so generally opposed to the public interest," he said, "that there is no recourse but governmental action."

"Where private capital is unwilling or unable to make adequate utility services generally available, it is the responsibility of Government... to satisfy the need directly."

NEGRO DOCTORS' INSTITUTE OPENS THREE-DAY SESSION

Discussion at Phillips Hospital; Interracial Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow Night.

A medical institute for Negro physicians opened today at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, 2601 North Whittier street, with discussions on diagnosis and treatment of syphilis and tuberculosis in their early stages, prenatal care and infant feeding. The meeting will continue through Friday.

Speakers at the morning session were Dr. Roderick Brown of the Tuberculosis League Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Dr. T. K. Lawless of Northwestern University Medical School, both of whom discussed tuberculosis. At this afternoon's meeting, Dr. C. Leon Wilson of Provident Hospital, Chicago, will speak on prenatal care. Dr. J. W. Jones of Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., will speak late today on "Infant Feeding from Birth to One Year of Life."

Symposiums on the treatment of tuberculosis and syphilis will be presented tomorrow morning and afternoon. An interracial mass meeting on health and disease will be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at Metropolitan A. M. E. Zion Church, Garrison and Lucas avenues. Five physicians will conduct an open forum. A banquet in honor of visiting specialists will be given tonight at the Pine Street Y. M. C. A., with Dr. William D. Morman, president of the Mound City Medical Forum, presiding.

$19,000 PAID FOR MACHINERY IN CLOSED ILLINOIS MINE

Sale to Scrap Metal Dealer Part of Reorganization of Southern Coal Co.

Machinery of the closed New Baden (Ill.) mine, owned by the Southern Coal, Coke & Mining Co., was sold yesterday for $19,000 to Henry V. Gehm, scrap metal dealer. United States District Judge Fred L. Wham, in whose court the mining firm is being reorganized under the Bankruptcy Act, said he would approve the sale.

None of the five mines owned by the Southern company, the offices of which are in the Security Building, is now operating. The New Baden mine, 45 miles east of St. Louis, was 40 years old and was one of the chief industries of the community.

R. W. Gass, trustee, said it cost the firm $50 a day to keep water out of the mine. After the expense of moving the machinery and keeping out water is paid, the rest of the $19,000 would go to creditors, he said.

Elected to Office, Sues to Get It. Joseph Kinzle, elected Supervisor of Caseyville Township in the election April 4, filed suit in Circuit Court at Belleville yesterday to compel Hugh Bevirt, his predecessor, to relinquish his records and accounts. Bevirt's contention is that his term still has two more years to run.

COMMITTEE SENDS BILL FOR MERGING RELIEF TO SENATE

Byrnes Measure Split—Other Section Proposes Liberalizing Social Security Benefits.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—The Senate Unemployment Committee split the Byrnes relief-public works bill into two sections today and sent it to the Senate floor.

One part would consolidate WPA, FWA, CCC, NYA, the Bureau of Roads and Federal building activities under a new independent Public Works agency.

The other would liberalize unemployment compensation, old age assistance and aid to dependent children under the Social Security System.

Before this action, four Republicans on the committee had submitted a report saying the bill written by Chairman Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, would be "essentially a step forward." The four—Lodge of Massachusetts, Davis of Pennsylvania, McNary of Oregon and Frazier of North Dakota—said consolidation of the relief agencies should effect administrative economies. They added, however, that the legislation would not "cure all injustices of the present system."

Minority Report.

The Senate minority report contended that the bill "materially reduces the discretion which now resides in the chief executive in the conduct of work relief." It added that "it is this discretion which tends to create a new class of king makers in this country and which would have a ruinous effect on both the needy and the integrity of our political structure if not speedily checked."

Lodge said the report referred to the President's authority to allocate relief funds to states whose Senators "he favored."

The bill provides a formula for allocation of relief funds, based on population and the number of unemployed. Lodge said that though the formula was an improvement over present distribution methods, 30 states and parts of two states would be "adversely affected" by the provision. These include Illinois, St. Louis and St. Louis County, Mo.

The formula calls for allocating one-half the funds in the ratio which the population of each state bears to the country's total population and one-half in the ratio which the number of unemployed in each state bears to the total number of unemployed.

Meanwhile bi-partisan opposition had developed to Byrnes' proposals in the House Committee investigating WPA.

Opposition in House.

Representative Taber of New York said the Byrnes plan would not solve the relief problem because it proposed to continue the existing set-up without basic changes.

"No plan will solve the problem if it does not return to the states sufficient power so they can administer projects," Taber said. "We have not tried that yet, and I know of no good reason why we shouldn't."

Taber said a bill by Representative Woodrum (Dem.), Virginia, which would abolish WPA and substitute a drastically curtailed unemployment relief administration to make grants to states, more nearly met his views.

At his press conference yesterday, President Roosevelt told reporters he would send to Congress in a week or 10 days a request for WPA funds for the year beginning July 1. He confirmed, subject to last minute study, statements made in the Senate that he would ask for $1,500,000,000.

PERMITS SOUGHT TO SELL 5 HEARST RADIO STATIONS

Communications Commission Reports on Pending Applications to Transfer Licenses.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Federal Communications Commission officials said today applications were pending for the sale of five of the stations belonging to Hearst Radio, Inc. The commission has authorized the transfer of the license of KOMA at Oklahoma City, Ok., from Hearst Radio to KOMA, Inc.

Pending applications for the transfer of license from Hearst Radio are:

KHSA, Los Angeles, to Earl C. Anthony; KTSB, San Antonio, Tex., to Sunshine Broadcasting Co., Inc.; WACO, at Waco, Tex., and KNOW, at Austin, Tex., to the Frontier Broadcasting Co.; and WINS, New York, to the Metropolitan Broadcasting Corporation.

Officials said they had received no applications affecting the other four Hearst radio stations, and understood that at least two definitely were not for sale. WCAE, at Pittsburgh, and WBAL, Baltimore. The other Hearst stations are KYA, San Francisco, and WISN, Milwaukee.

Airport Food Concession Let.
A five-year contract for food concessions at Municipal Airport was let to Arthur B. Schnelhorst, proprietor of a downtown restaurant, by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday. Schnelhorst will pay the city 9 per cent of gross receipts, with a minimum of $2700 per year.

$20,000 FOR ORPHAN HOME RELEASED ON WOMAN'S DEATH

Methodist Association Gets Money Left in Trust for Mrs. Mary Atkinson.

Approximately $20,000 from the estate of a brother of Mrs. Mary Atkinson, who died March 18, has been released to the Methodist Orphan Home Association, 4385 Maryland avenue. The fund had been left in trust for Mrs. Atkinson, with the provision it would go to the association on her death.

The money will be placed in the association's endowment fund. The late John C. Bull, Mrs. Atkinson's father, was one of the founders of the association in 1865. The institution cares for about 100 dependent children.

KANSAS CITY SENDS POLICE BILL WITNESSES

Park Board Head to Represent Mayor at Jefferson City Tonight.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 19 (AP).—James E. Nugent, president of the Park Board, will go to Jefferson City today as official representative of the city before a House committee holding hearings on the Weakley police bill.

The hearing to night will be to give opponents of the bill, which would restore the Kansas City Police Department to State rule, a chance to tell their views.

CHURCH GROUP SUPPORTS STARK ON HIS POLICE MEASURE

A resolution in support of Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's bill for State control of the Kansas City Police Department was adopted yesterday by the Social Service Commission of the Metropolitan Church Federation.

The commission also urged public support of a bill before the Legislature requiring a three-day interval in Missouri between the issuance of a license and a marriage. Letters were sent by the commission to United States Senators Bennett C. Clark and Harry S. Truman, and Congressmen of Missouri urging passage of the Wagner-Rogers bill by Congress to permit 10,000 German refugees children under 14 years of age to enter the country.

PEACE FRONT WINS PRAISE IN MOSCOW

British - French Efforts and Roosevelt Appeal Applauded by Newspaper.

MOSCOW, April 19 (AP).—Indications of a more benevolent attitude in Moscow toward British-French foreign policy is given today in the editorial of a high-placed journal which also warmly praised President Roosevelt's nonaggression appeal to Germany and Italy.

The editorial aroused particular interest among foreign observers because it contained the first kind words published in Moscow about

New York Too Crude

MARGARET RAWLINGS

Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier since long before last September's crisis over Czechoslovakia.

As one diplomat put it, "Moscow has apparently quit throwing stale eggs at Chamberlain and has begun tossing bouquets instead. But she has not yet taken off her coat and jumped into the arena."

Others pointed out that this editorial, coming yesterday after four days of extreme reserve in the Soviet press, looked more like British-Soviet co-operation than anything seen here for months. The next few days, it is thought, may clarify the situation still further.

What Le Journal de Moscou said, after praising President Roosevelt's appeal, was this:

"The recent speech of the British Prime Minister and the declaration of the French Government also constitute a step forward for clarification of a problem which agitates all peaceful people."

(On Thursday Chamberlain announced pledges of protection to Rumania and Greece).

"The policy of several states is evolving in a direction corresponding to the interests of peace. The U. S. S. R., powerful and peaceful, always has worked for consolidation of peace. She always has pronounced herself for a clear and precise position on the most important international problems."

The publication said all states of East and Southeastern Europe, as well as of the Near East, were "directly threatened with armed attack."

"With characteristic clarity and frankness, Franklin Roosevelt has summed up the international situation and has drawn the conclusions which it demands. One could hardly expect Fascist Italy and Germany to give clear affirmative answers—the policy of the Fascist states being based on aggression."

USE OF TAX DELINQUENT LANDS AS STATE PARKS ADVOCATED

American Legion Commander Asks Post to Support Enabling Measure in Legislature.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—American Legion posts have been asked by the State commander, Fred A. Bottger, St. Louis attorney, to assist in the passage of House Bill No. 701, pending in the General Assembly, which would permit the State to turn over tax delinquent land to the Missouri Conservation Commission for public purposes. Such action would enable the commission to rehabilitate thousands of acres of land which virtually has become "no man's land" because of abandonment by owners and failure to dispose of it at tax sales, he said.

The bill applies only to lands not sold when offered for sale because of delinquent taxes. Owners could reclaim the land within two years by paying taxes, interest and carrying charges and provisions are made whereby the commission will pay 10 cents an acre to the county clerk on land it obtains.

TWO BEATEN BY INTRUDERS HUNTING NON-UNION MEN

Group Attacks Them in Office; One Victim Worker Employed in Making Alterations.

Irvin Susman, secretary of the Susman Wiping Material Co., and Otto Alblinger, a workman for a contractor making alterations at the company's branch office at 1116 North Market street, were beaten yesterday by four or five men who entered the building and demanded to know if non-union labor was employed.

Susman said he picked up a board to defend himself when the men approached him, but fled after they also obtained boards and began striking him. He suffered minor cuts and bruises, but declined medical attention. Alblinger was treated at City Hospital for a bruised jaw and a cut lower lip.

Alblinger, who lives at 2705A Virginia avenue, was working for William Moser, a general contractor, 8933 Annetta street. Moser said he had been engaged to alter the building by a towel supply firm which is planning to move in.

East Side Armory Site Offered.
The East St. Louis Park Board yesterday offered the Illinois Armory Board a site at Fifty-first and State streets for an armory to serve two batteries of the Illinois National Guard in the East St. Louis district. The proposed building would cost about $250,000.

BRITISH ACTORS GO AFTER PLAY FAILS

Godfrey Tearle and Margaret Rawlings Angry at Unappreciative New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Margaret Rawlings and Godfrey Tearle, who played the leading roles in Charles Morgan's play, "The Flashing Stream," sailed for England yesterday on the Cunard White Star liner Georgic, irate at New York's lack of artistic appreciation.

"The Flashing Stream," which opened at the Biltmore Theater, April 10, closed after eight performances. New York critics, though admiring the abilities of its author, who is the dramatic critic of the Times of London, found the play generally too abstract, pompous and heavy.

Miss Rawlings intimated that the play, on the contrary, was too delicate for New York's crude standards.

"The critics were nice to me, personally," she said, "but offering this most beautiful play, this great work of art, here was like pouring out vintage claret to people who wanted their Scotch straight. I drink both, but I know when to drink them. No play can stand up against a bad press."

Tearle said: "I have nothing to say, and you ought to know that."

"The Flashing Stream" told the story of the love affair of two of the world's greatest mathematicians, one a woman, living on a rock in the Atlantic, where they were perfecting a kind of torpedo to protect Great Britain from enemy planes. There were other complications.

Richard Watts Jr., dramatic critic of the New York Herald Tribune, found Morgan's drama, "A pompous and hollow play for all of Mr. Morgan's sincerity," but had high praise for the performances of Tearle and Miss Rawlings.

THREE RIVERS NEAR CRESTS;
LITTLE FLOOD DAMAGE LIKELY

Backwater Closes Highway 66 Southwest of Valley Park; Low-lands Inundated.

The flooded Mississippi, Missouri and Meramec rivers, swollen by recent heavy rains, were approaching crests today, with indications that damage would be slight and the areas of inundation limited. Lowlands along all three streams were under water, in stretches where this condition has occurred often.

Backwater spreading over U. S. Highway No. 66, southwest of Valley Park, caused the closing of that road this afternoon between Vandover road and Gray's Summit.

At St. Louis this morning the Mississippi stage was 23.3 feet, or 7 of a foot below flood level, while at Alton, below the dam, it was 22 feet, or 4 feet above flood mark. The rise in the last 24 hours was 1.5 feet here and 1.6 feet at Alton. A crest of 30.5 at St. Louis was predicted for tomorrow night or Friday morning by the Weather Bureau. Gates of the Alton Dam, built solely for navigation purposes, have been opened wide for three days to let the flood water pass.

A crest of 23 feet in the Missouri at St. Charles was expected today. The morning reading was 27.7 feet, a rise of .8 of a foot in 24 hours. Flood stage there is 25 feet.

The Meramec, it was predicted, would attain a crest this afternoon of 27 feet at Valley Park—or 13 feet higher than flood mark. This morning the gauge said 26.3 feet, a rise of 4.1 feet in 24 hours. Several county roads near the river are inundated.

Alton Woman Drowns Self.

Miss Bessie Smith, 54 years old, who suffered a nervous breakdown in January, drowned herself today in a cistern at her home in Alton.

RAILROAD COAL SUPPLY RUNS LOW IN STRIKE

B. & O. Has Only Enough for Week—It and N. Y. C. Shut Down Shops.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Spokesmen for two major railroads publicly expressed apprehension today at the long shutdown in the eight-state Appalachian coal area as union miners and bituminous operators reported no progress in their long negotiations for a new labor contract to reopen the mines.

Charles W. Galloway of Baltimore, vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio, said here in response to questions that his line had only a six to seven-day coal supply and that a curtailment of operations to keep essential foodstuffs moving would be necessary soon unless there was a settlement.

The shutdown already is costing the B. & O. $100,000 a day in freight revenue, he said, and several thousand men have been laid off in a "virtual shutdown" of B. & O. shops. The line's carloadings, he added, have dropped precipitately.

In Cleveland, a spokesman for the New York Central said a number of its shops have been shut down, adding: "The coal strike's just playing hob with business."

The conferees—John L. Lewis and his CIO delegation representing the United Mine Workers, and an operators' group headed by Charles O'Neill of New York—wound up another morning of discussion with no comment as to what had been accomplished.

On hand were two of the United States Labor Department's best conciliators—James F. Dewey, who intervened yesterday as mediator, and John R. Steelman, director of the United States Conciliation Service. Both were sent here on the orders of Secretary of Labor Perkins. Steelman disclosed that his immediate concern was to canvass the situation as quickly as possible and to take a report back to the Secretary. He said he would confer with both sides.

Senator Barbour Asks Roosevelt to Act in Mine Dispute.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Senator Barbour (Rep.), New Jersey, urged President Roosevelt today to intercede in the mine dispute. He made his request in a letter after receiving a telegram from the Mayor of Vineland, N. J., stating that unless coal shipments were resumed next week the community would be without light and power.

day that $2000 had been collected from truck owners, and $4000 more was in process of being collected, for legitimate expenses of legislative work before both the Missouri and Illinois Legislatures.

Winning said no lawyer had been engaged, but that members having "friendly contacts" with members of the two Legislatures were sent to Jefferson City and Springfield, to work for the legislative program desired by the organization. The Motor Truck Transport Association has 1200 members, engaged in trucking in Southern Illinois.

Winning said it was true that the fund raised was larger than the first announcement—that $1000 was collected, then another $1000, then the raising of $4000 was undertaken. He said collections toward the $4000 had been placed in a bank, and that the rest of the amount would be placed there, and that the money was in escrow, not for any outside person or persons, but for a refund to the contributors, of whatever part is not used by the organization in its legislative campaign.

Winning said he was not acquainted with any member of the Missouri Legislature. He explained the attitude of the organization to a pending bill in the Missouri Legislature, which it is supporting, and to measures in the Illinois Legislature most of which it is opposing.

The measure proposed in Missouri, he said, is for equalizing charges as between common carriers and contract carriers. At present, he said, common carriers pay both license and permit fees in Missouri, while contract and private carriers pay a license only. Under the bill now pending, he said, all would pay both a license and a fee. The organization favors this equalization. He said the measures in Illinois proposed further regulations, and were opposed by the association.

The reporter suggested that, as a reply to Senator Menges' statements, the collections and disbursements of the association should be made public. Winning declined to accept this suggestion.

"Mr. Menges is making charges, and it is up to him to prove them," Winning said. "The fact is that we have violated no law. But we have opposed Mr. Menges. In 1936 it was charged at Springfield that our organization had spent $65,000 for legislation. In connection with a bill which was passed, but which Gov. Horner vetoed, the charge was untrue."

SWEDEN TO CALL RECRUITS

14,000 Men to Serve Four Months in Preparedness Move.

LONDON, April 19 (AP).—Exchange Telegraph, a British news agency, reported from Stockholm today that the Swedish Government had decided to call up the 1935 class of army recruits—about 14,000 men—for a month's "preparedness service."

One-half the class will begin service May 15 and the other half on June 15.

Infantile Paralysis Sufferer, in Fifth Year in Respirator, to Make Second Ocean Trip.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 19 (AP).—Fred Snite Jr., infantile paralysis sufferer, will sail on the Normandie May 17 to visit the shrine at Lourdes, France, his father, a Chicago financier, said last night.

Young Snite is in his fifth year in an artificial respirator. The ocean voyage will be his second in an "iron lung." He was stricken with the disease April 1, 1936, in Peking, China, while on a world tour, and crossed the Pacific in the care of nurses.

GERMAN BARTER PLAN DENOUNCED BY HULL

Secretary of State Says It Is a Disruptive Influence in Commerce.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull denounced yesterday the German barter methods as injurious to the countries that utilize them and as a "highly disruptive influence in world commerce."

He said they were leading "to a curtailment of total trade."

"There may be circumstances," Hull said, "under which special types of barter arrangements may be considered necessary to supplement other methods of trade promotion."

State Department officials included in that exception a proposal to exchange surplus American cotton and wheat for war materials such as tin and rubber.

The Commerce Department said that Germany faces a railroad equipment crisis which may prevent its fulfilling barter agreements with Argentina and other Latin American countries.

A report from the department's daughter.

attache in Berlin said a four-year program for re-equipping German railroads "finds the rolling stock industry unprepared and gives rise to speculation as to how Germany will be able to meet railway orders made with other countries."

The most recent German barter deal was with Argentina, calling for the exchange of 64 Diesel switch engines, 900 steel freight cars and 30 sleeping cars for 100,000 metric tons of wheat and 8000 metric tons of wool.

The Commerce Department said Germany was short about 90,000 freight cars on its own railroads and that the annexation of Austria and part of Czechoslovakia had aggravated the situation because the lines in those countries needed equipment.

Germany recently announced a four-year plan to build 6000 locomotives, 10,000 passenger cars, 112,000 freight cars and 17,300 motor trucks and trailers for the Government-owned railway system.

The Berlin report arrived as Brazil invited American factories to bid on 25 locomotives and 1000 freight cars, to be financed by the Export-Import Bank under a recent credit agreement.

NEW MACHINE AIDS SPEECH OF THE DEAF

Device Developed Here Found to Be Successful in Eliminating Monotones.

A machine has been devised and built at the Central Institute for the Deaf which, it is hoped, will be a great aid to speech teachers in getting children who have been deaf from birth to rid themselves of the monotone of their voices and gain some amount of normal inflection.

Previously various devices have been tried in an effort to accomplish this. All of them have been more or less unsatisfactory. Dr. Max A. Goldstein, director of the institute, thinks the present bit of apparatus is by far the best and the first one that is really workable.

It was designed by Mrs. Tikvah Alper Sterne, a physicist of Pretoria, South Africa, and H. J. Zimmerman, an instructor in electrical engineering at the Washington University Engineering School. They call their device a thyatron inflection indicator.

How Machine Operates.
It is quite a simple machine. Its object is to get a child, for instance, to say "good morn-ing," with the voice rising on the "morn," rather than to bring out in a monotone, a sound resembling "good maw-ing."

The heart of the inflection indicator is an electronic frequency meter which sensitively records the inflection of a person's voice on a column of light. There are seven bulb-like indicators on the face of the machine. When the teacher says "good," the column of light goes up to the first three bulbs. When she says "morn . . ." the column shoots all the way up, and when she concludes with ". . ing," the light column drops back to the four bulbs at the bottom.

The deaf child watches. Later he takes over the microphone and attempts to imitate the inflection which the teacher gave to the two words, attempting to make the column of light behave exactly as the teacher made it jump.

It still takes a good deal of patience and perseverance on the part of the teacher, of course, but the machine, if for no other reason than that it fascinates the children like a new toy, can be a big help. In a brief demonstration yesterday, Dr. Goldstein and Mrs. Sterne got a young deaf girl to put the proper inflection on "good morning" in about 15 minutes.

Mrs. Sterne's Interest.
Mrs. Sterne went to the institute in the fall of 1937 to learn to teach deaf children to speak. With her was her deaf son, Jonathan, who was then 2 years old. Jonathan is now at too lively an age to derive much benefit from the inflection indicator, but Mrs. Sterne hopes he will profit from it later.

By a coincidence another teacher of the deaf from South Africa has recently brought to America a machine somewhat similar to the one designed here. It uses tuning forks instead of the frequency meter and lights up single bulbs, one at a time, rather than making a column of light shoot up and down. Dr. Goldstein thinks the one made here is superior.

PLANS FOR JUNCTION OF U. S. 40, CLAYTON

Highway Department Ready to Seek Right-of-Way Near Hanley Road.

Plans for separation of opposing streams of traffic at the prospective junction of Clayton road and the new route of U. S. Highway No. 40 have been prepared by the State Highway Department in anticipation of condemnation proceedings for acquisition of right-of-way.

The junction will be west of Hanley road and east of the Terminal Railroad line. Traffic moving west in Clayton road and destined for No. 40, usually referred to as the superhighway, will turn north on a gentle curve, starting between 200 and 300 feet west of Hanley. This will lead back of a restaurant, cross the Kirkwood-Ferguson car tracks at grade and use an underpass to go beneath Clayton road, at the crest of a grade on that thoroughfare.

Traffic moving east in No. 40 will turn directly into Clayton road at a slight angle, a short distance west of the Kirkwood-Ferguson crossing. Both the eastbound and westbound branches of No. 40 will be of three-lane width, which will extend west to Brentwood boulevard (formerly North and South road). Beyond that point, each roadway will have two lanes, with space for a third. The roadways will be divided by a parked central strip, which will be narrow in the vicinity of the Clayton road junction and broaden as the superhighway extends into open country.

Construction of the underpass will be complicated by the presence of two five-foot water mains of the city of St. Louis beneath the pavement of Clayton road. E. W. Hodgson, division engineer of the State Highway Department, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the big mains doubtless would have to be lowered to pass under the sub-way, with a siphon effect. No separate estimate of the cost of the junction construction is available, and exact details of the right-of-way have not been completed.

Work on a building started recently, north of Clayton road and west of Hanley road, has been halted because the traffic turnout may need its site.

Plans will be ready in about two weeks, whereupon, under the law, the Highway Department will seek to negotiate purchase of right-of-way. If unsuccessful, it will file a condemnation suit in Circuit Court. The superhighway will cross under the Terminal tracks, a short distance south of Clayton road, and over Brentwood boulevard. The right-of-way to be acquired, 3.7 miles long and generally 200 feet wide, will extend west to Lindbergh boulevard, where the superhighway now ends. Construction may start at the west end this summer.

Fewer Strikes in 1938.
WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Perkins reported today that there were fewer strikes in 1938 than in any other year since 1932. There were 272 strikes last year involving 688,000 workers and resulting in about 9,000,000 man-days of idleness. In 1937 there were 470 strikes involving 1,860,000 workers and causing 28,424,000 man-days of idleness.

HOUSING ADMINISTRATION SET UP BY FRANCO IN SPAIN

Plans Contemplate 20,000 Homes Like Those in U. S. Greenbelt Project.

BURGOS, Spain, April 19 (AP).—Gen. Franco created a resettlement administration yesterday to build homes something on the order of those in the Greenbelt project at Berwyn, Md. The announced purpose of the project is to provide homes for low-paid workers and eliminate slums. About 20,000 dwellings of two and three rooms are planned. Payment would be over periods as long as 20 years. Franco's plans contemplate parks and recreational spaces.

LINDBERGH TO AID IN BUILDING U. S. ARMY'S AIR FORCE

Recalled to Service, Colonel Volunteers to Make Survey of Aviation Research Facilities.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Ordered on temporary duty as an army officer, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh began today a survey of American aviation research facilities to help make the nation's war planes the best in the world.

Piloting an army plane, he probably will visit the most important of about 30 aircraft research centers during the next two to four weeks. Afterward, the famous aviator, who has been a reserve officer since 1925, will make a confidential report to Major-General Henry H. Arnold, Air Corp Chief.

Secretary Woodring's unexpected decision to have Lindbergh make the survey came just as the army is starting to build up its air corps to 6000 planes.

The active military role is new for the trans-Atlantic flyer, although in his capacity as a reserve officer and a member of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics he has supplied information on aviation developments in Europe. Officials said he never had any active service since he completed the flying course at a Texas training center.

Voluntary Assignment.
They emphasized that he undertook the assignment voluntarily, less than a week after his arrival from Europe.

Col. Lindbergh's pay, with allowances, will amount to about $600 a month. He is one of about 55 Air Corps Colonels, and like others not actually serving with troops, he is not required to wear a uniform.

Some officers viewed Lindbergh's survey as likely to dramatize an appeal to Congress by the National Advisory Council for Aeronautics for a new $10,000,000 aviation research station at Sunnyvale, Cal. The House rejected the proposal.

after its Military Committee said the Sunnyvale station would needlessly duplicate Langley Field (Va.) facilities. The Senate, however, approved an initial $4,000,000 outlay.

Langley Field is the sole American institution devoted to fundamental aviation research, whereas Congress was told by army and navy officers that Germany has five such major centers. Declaring the army and navy will spend about $255,000,000 in the coming year alone, they commented that "America does not want second best aircraft."

The House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation authorizing the Civil Aeronautics Authority to start immediate primary training of 15,000 civilian air pilots at a cost of $5,675,000. The program, requested twice by President Roosevelt, already has been approved in the Senate, but in another form and bill.

Senator Clark's Comment.
Announcement of Col. Lindbergh's assignment drew expressions of approval today from members of the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Senator Clark (Dem.), Missouri, and some others, however, were quick to say they had full confidence in army and other aviation experts.

"I am very happy to have such a distinguished flyer as Col. Lindbergh help," Clark said. "I am not convinced that his conclusions would be as persuasive with House and Senate Committees as recommendations of some of our own military experts."

"Col. Lindbergh apparently has been acting as a military adviser to the Germans and British. Everybody knows he is a great flyer, but I have confidence in our own Clark mentioned Gen. Arnold as a military expert who would rate ahead of Col. Lindbergh with congressional committees.

Although Lindbergh had agreed tentatively to appear at the House Foreign Affairs Committee's neutrality hearings, Acting Chairman Bloom (Dem.), New York, said today it had been decided it would be better, in view of the flyer's survey for the army, to postpone his testimony indefinitely.

"Nobody knows what information he might be able to give us that would help solve the neutrality problem," Bloom said, "but we do know the information he can obtain for the Government will be of very great importance."

BOTH CARDINALS AND BROWNS' GAMES OFF---COLD WEATHER ARCHIB

TOM SUNKEL TO FACE BUCS TOMORROW

Medwick and Mize Drive in All Redbird Runs to Help Weiland and Shoun Win Opener, 3 to 2.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 19.—The Cardinals will have to wait another day before throwing some more left-handed pitching at the Pittsburgh Pirates. Today's scheduled second game of the series was postponed because of cold weather.

Manager Ray Blades, pleased at the way Bob Weiland and Clyde Shoun outplayed the Pirates to defeat in the opener yesterday, 3 to 2, probably will stick to his original plan of pitching Tom Sunkel next.

Sunkel won 21 games for Atlanta in the Southern Association last season and held the opposition to 2.38 earned runs per game, only five defeats being charged against him.

Big Jim Tobin, righthander who had a one-and-two record against the Redbirds last season, will probably hunt for Manager Pie Traynor's hopefuls tomorrow.

In beating the Pirates in the opener, the Cardinals had only one productive inning—the seventh—but that proved enough to give Weiland and Shoun the victory. Weiland was removed for a pinch hitter in the Cardinals' big inning, but he was credited with the victory.

One, Two Punch On Duty. The Cardinals' one-two punch, the best in the National League, proved a deciding factor in the big inning, which saw Bob Klinger, once Cardinal "fury" hand, who won four out of five from the Birds in 1938, defeated. Joe Medwick drove over the tying run with a single, while Johnny Mize's long fly produced what proved the winning tally.

Up to the seventh, the Birds had numerous opportunities but could not break through Klinger's tight hurling. In each of the first three rounds, the first man up singled, but it did no good. In the fourth, Mize and Medwick singled, but the second out was left. Guttridge singled and stole in the fifth, but was stranded, while in the sixth, a pass and an error gave the Birds an opening, which was wasted.

It was different in the seventh. The Cardinals finally were able to punch their blows. Padgett, for Weiland, flied out to open the inning. Then Brown walked and Guttridge beat out an infield hit. Medwick's hit scored Brown and Guttridge, while Mize's drive to Rizzo sent Slaughter across with what proved to be the winning run.

How the Pirates Scored. Brubaker's single and Mueller's double gave the Pirates a run off Weiland in the third, while in the fifth, with two to, L. Wanner and Bell singled. He showed his scratch double to score L. Wanner with the Pirates' final tally of the game.

In his three innings on the hill, Shoun proved a fine relief hurler. He yielded two hits. He showed his best in the ninth, when with two out, he walked Mueller and Berres, up for Sewell, singled. Shoun worked the call to 3-2 on L. Wanner and then forced the Pirate outfielder to roll to Guttridge to end the game.

A total of 15,783 spectators watched the opening day festivities.

How Louis Beat Off Jack Roper's Challenge

Here's how Jack Roper, title contender, made his bid for fame against Champion Joe Louis—and failed in 2 minutes, 20 seconds of the first round at Wrigley Field Monday night. (1) Out of the first clinch. (2) Roper cocks his left. (3) Roper pounds Louis' chin. (4) Louis' knees sag. (5) Roper crowds in. (6) Louis covers up. (7) Champ fights back. (8) Roper short with left. (9) Roper driven to ropes. (10) Left hurts Roper. (11) Roper slumps to floor. (12) It's all over and Louis is winner and still champion.

“FIGHT PROVED LOUIS CAN BE HIT”—JACOBS

LOS ANGELES, April 19 (AP).—Promoter Mike Jacobs headed back to New York today, already beating the publicity drums for Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' next title defense, against rotund Tony Galento, June 28.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Galento pull an upset," Jacobs remarked as he swung aboard an eastbound streamliner.

As for his opinion of the Louis bout with Jack Roper, who was knocked out in 2 minutes, 20 seconds of the first round:

"Roper fought a swell fight and proved that the champion can be hit."

Jacobs said he liked Los Angeles as a fight center and "I wouldn't be surprised if I brought another championship bout out here this summer." He indicated it might be the lightweight title affair between Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers.

"If I could get that Coliseum we might have one of those million dollar giants," he added.

The gate for the Louis-Roper fight was $87,697.75.

UNIVERSITY CITY TEAM FAVORED TO RETAIN DISTRICT TRACK TITLE

University City High School's track team is favored to repeat as district Class A champion when the annual meet is held next week at Maplewood stadium.

The Indians, whose State indoor title is under question because of the use of a boy later learned to be ineligible, are expected to receive most opposition from Beaumont and Roosevelt of the City High School League.

Bill Wells is the University City boy who was ruled ineligible by the school when it was learned he was technically a ninth semester student. Wells was a member of the winning half-mile relay team at the State meet, but Coach Henry Schenker said he has another runner about as good, so Wells' loss will not hurt the Indians' chances in this event.

Sixteen teams have entered Class A of the meet, preliminaries of which are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday and finals Saturday of next week.

St. Charles is defending champion in Class B, in which there are eight schools entered. Fairview defeated St. Charles in a dual meet two weeks ago.

WALLACE OUTPOINTS BOB JOHNSON IN AMATEUR FIGHT

Lou Wallace, light-heavyweight Golden Gloves champion, gained a four-round decision over Bob Johnson of the Brown Bombers in the featured match of an amateur boxing card last night at Twenty-Third Ward Democratic Club.

Only knockout on the card was scored by Roy Holmes, boys' club featherweight who stopped Bobby Milton of Jennings in the first round.

Riggs, COOKE ADVANCE IN ASHEVILLE EVENT

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 19 (AP).—Bobby Riggs of Chicago, America's No. 1 amateur, paired against W. L. Heth of Kansas City today in the second round of the Western North Carolina tennis tournament.

Riggs trounced Davis Morgan Jr. of Asheville, yesterday, 6-2, 8-6. Heth defeated C. Chappell of Asheville, 6-1, 9-7. Other matches to-day included:

Johnny Doe of New York vs. Tench Coxe of Asheville; Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., vs. Compton Reese of Asheville; Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., vs. Ridge Lynch of Asheville.

Nova Says Louis Is 'About' Ring's Greatest; Eager to Fight Him

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 19 (AP).—Lou Nova says "I think Joe Louis is just about the greatest fighter the ring has had, but I want to get in there with him and prove it to my satisfaction."

Nova, California's contribution to the cauliflower industry, paused here last night en route from Hot Springs to New York where he fights Maxie Baer June 1.

Nova said he was a "little surprised" when the Brown Bomber faces Baer.

BRUCE BARNES WINS NORTH SOUTH TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 19 (AP).—Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., won the singles title of the annual North and South professional tennis tournament today by defeating Joe Whalen of Memphis, Tenn., 6-6, 6-3, 10-9.

TARZAN BROWN WINS MARATHON SECOND TIME

BOSTON, April 19 (AP).—Tarzan Brown, a Narragansett Indian from Alton, R. I., ran away from the field today in the B. A. A.'s 26-mile, 385-yard marathon, to repeat his victory of 1936 and join a small circle of two-time winners in the 48-year-old event.

Brown smashed all existing records for the course, finishing in 2 hours, 28 minutes and 51.8 seconds.

The dusky-skinned Brown, a stonemason by trade, literally ran 180 other competitors into the ground, taking the lead during the early stages of the race and sprinting across the finish line before his nearest pursuer was in sight.

Thus he completed a marvelous comeback over a hernia operation two years ago, which kept him out of racing for a considerable period.

A comparative dark horse, Don Heinicke of Baltimore, Md., captured second place, a quarter of a mile behind Brown. He had troubled the leaders but little during the race, but sprinted through the field at the end.

Heinicke's time was 2 hours, 31 minutes, 24.6 seconds.

Walter Young of Verdun, Quebec, was third in 2 hours, 32 minutes, 41.2 seconds.

Other early finishers were: Fourth: Pat Dengis, Baltimore, 2:33:22.6.

Fifth: Leslie Pawson, Pawtucket, R. I., 2:33:57.6.

Sixth: Paul Donato, Roxbury, Mass., 2:34:25.2.

Seventh: Walter Hornby, Hamilton, Ontario, 2:37:11.

Eighth: Edward Cote, St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, 2:37:43.

Ninth: Frederick Bristow, Toronto, Ontario, 2:38:44.

Tenth: Andre Brunelle, Medford, Mass., 2:39:09.

A heavy rain was falling as Brown finished, his time being better than 2 minutes ahead of the record set by Pawson in 1933. As early as the half-way mark the race appeared to rest between Brown and Walter Young, who were then running neck and neck.

FRESHMAN CAPTURES EVERY EVENT IN HIGH SCHOOL CLASS MEET

UNADILLA, Neb., April 19 (AP).—High School Coach G. A. Bruce thinks he has a "pretty good" track prospect in Norman Masters. He won every event in a freshman class meet.

Besides the mile, which he ran in less than five minutes, young Masters breezed through without exerting himself to win the two dashes, quarter-mile, half-mile, broad jump and high jumps, shotput, discus and pole vault.

DE MAR ADVERTISES FOR JOB IN JUNE

BOSTON, April 19 (AP).—While Clarence De Mar, veteran marathon runner, waited at the starting line in Hopkinton for the beginning of the Boston Athletic Association's forty-third annual classic—the twenty-first for him—the following advertisement appeared in a Boston newspaper:

"Clarence De Mar, printer and teacher, at liberty June 19; what have you to offer in teaching or as a compositor? Running never interferes with my regular work."

De Mar's position as printing instructor at Keene (N. H.) Normal School will be discontinued in two months and unless De Mar finds a job in New England this may be his last marathon. He will be 61 in June.

BUCK NEWSOM, FELLER WAIT ANOTHER DAY

By Herman Wecke

For the second day, the Browns' 1939 opening game of baseball's centennial campaign was prevented, this time by cold weather. As a result, efforts will be made to open the season at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon. Yesterday it was rain and cold which forced officials to call off hostilities.

Buck Newsom, a 20-game winner for a seventh place team last season, and Bobby Feller, 1938 strike-out king of the big leagues, will be the pitchers if the teams are able to go to the post tomorrow. If a game is played, it will be the Browns' only contest on their current home stand, since the team departs for a tour of the three Western cities tomorrow night.

Three-game series will be played before the club returns for a stand at Sportsman's Park, April 23.

Newsom and Feller were ready for the opening test. Each pitcher has shown advantage in spring exhibitions and each is anxious to get off on the right foot as was the case in 1938, when Newsom beat the Indians, 6-2, in the season's opener and Feller came back to stop the Browns with one hit for a 9-0 shutout in the second contest of the season.

New Faces on Team. Following this, Umpire Geisel will give the play-ball signal and the Browns will be off on the 1939 campaign, a season, which officials hope, will be more productive of victories than was 1938.

New athletes will be in major positions. Johnny Berardino, a San Antonio graduate, will perform for the first time in an American League game, at second base. He's starred in all the spring games and Manager Haney regards him highly. In fact, he's done so well that Haney has been called upon to place Don Heffner, a whole of a fielder at second in 1938, at shortstop. Then, Myril Hoag, from the Yankees, will be in right, with Ben Bell moving over to left field.

Dissatisfied with his second combination of last year, Manager Oscar Vitt of the Indians has a new pair at short and second. Jimmy Webb, one of the Cleveland "farm" hands turned loose when Commissioner Landis made his sweeping decision a year ago, will be at short, and Jim Shilling, a 201 hitter at New Orleans, will open at second. Shilling came fast at the end of the April Hoag, from the Yankees, and ousted Odel Hale from the pivot station in the stretch drive.

Another change with the Indians will show Ben Chapman, obtained in a trade with the Red Sox last winter, in the lineup as an Allie P. Putter.

Except for these changes, the two clubs will go to the post with veterans in the various positions.

Pitching is at present the chief worry of the managers. Haney had Howard Addelman, who was on the ailing list, while Vitt is not certain regarding the condition of Mel Harder and Johnny Allen, two of his 1938 assets. Allen, recovering from an arm operation, will in all probability be called upon to go the entire route.

In addition to the $6000 he collected for beating Rodak, Archibald received a belt emblematic of the featherweight championship, presented by Nat Fleischer, editor of The Ring magazine.

ASSOCIATION TO BE ORGANIZED TO DIRECT COLLEGE BASKET MEET

BALDWIN, Kan., April 19 (AP).—Emil S. Liston, director of athletics at Baker University, said today the National Association of intercollegiate basketball would be organized at the annual game tournament in Kansas City next March.

Membership in the group will be open to all accredited colleges and universities. Its major function will be to conduct the annual national intercollegiate basketball tournament in Kansas City, of which Liston has been the managing director for the past three years.

E. F. Kimball, director of athletics at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., is chairman of a committee which is dividing the United States into 32 districts. Each district will be permitted one team in the 1940 meet and will have one director on the tournament board.

KID BERG DENIED ENTRY TO U. S., HELD AT ELLIS ISLAND

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Jackie Kid Berg, the Whitehead, London, fishcutter, is under detention at Ellis Island after being excluded from re-entry to this country by a board of special inquiry.

Berg has appealed to Washington for permission to remain here.

According to Ellis Island authorities, Berg came here on a visitor's permit, overstayed his time and when ordered to leave the country went to Bermuda instead of returning to England. While in Bermuda, Berg acquired the "championship" of that island. He attempted to return to this country Monday.

SMALL TRADER 'BUYS AND SELLS TOO SOON'

Brookings Study Shows He Tends to Guess Wrong on Stock Market.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—A study issued today by the Brookings Institution indicates that the small stock market trader tends to guess wrong on trends of share prices. He buys on declines and sells on advances, "but... buys and sells too soon."

"Market movements tend to continue in the same direction for a substantial time" after the small trader acts, the report says. During the years 1920 to 1938, inclusive, principal odd-lot concerns of the New York Stock Exchange sold 73,000,000 shares more than they bought. The institution expresses the belief that the bulk of these shares went permanently into the hands of small buyers.

On the average, the small trader accumulated six shares of stock by buying 106 shares and selling 100. The fact that the net balance of stock permanently retained by the small buyers is always a small part of total turnover indicates, the report says, that a large part of odd-lot trading is speculative.

The study was made by Dr. Charles O. Hardy in co-operation with three large odd-lot firms. These firms do 97 per cent of the business transacted in less than hundred-share lots on the New York Stock Exchange.

"No basis was found for suspicion that the big odd-lot dealers attempt to manipulate transactions so as to make fractional profits not justified by the actual price at which round lots are being traded," he report said. (A round lot is a transaction made in units of 100 shares or multiples of 100.)

During the last two years, the report indicates, there has been a "substantial diversion" of trade especially in odd-lots, from the New York Stock Exchange to exchanges in other cities.

In Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and San Francisco the percentage of volume in stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange to the total volume of the local exchanges rose considerably in 1938—in one instance nearly 100 per cent.

It was found that net profit to the odd-lot dealers is a comparatively small item in the total cost to the public of its stock trading operations, averaging for the last five years considerably less than the transfer taxes which State and Federal Governments impose.

WEIRTON, W. Va., April 19 (AP).—E. T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation, urged the nation last night to "guard against anybody sweeping us into war hysteria," asserting that war, "more than anything else, holds danger of actual dictatorship for America."

Speaking at a banquet celebrating the thirtieth anniversary of this steel community which he helped found, Weir said: "The greatest contribution we can make to world sanity and world peace is to demonstrate to peoples now living under the illusions of the dictator countries that it is possible for a nation to be both free and economically prosperous."

"Let us guard against any circumstances that will further centralize power in this country," he added. "Let us, as a people, keep our heads. Let us fight to keep the United States, in every sense, a free country."

CHIANG SAYS PEACE
NOW IS IMPOSSIBLE

Declares When Japan Is No Longer Able to Carry on,
There Will Be Hope.

CHUNGKING, China, April 19 (AP).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek says that "under existing circumstances peace is impossible" in the Chinese-Japanese war, now in its twenty-second month.

"In less than 22 months Japan has been reduced to a second rate power," the Chinese leader told newspaper men yesterday. "The moment surely is coming when she no longer can bear the strain—then will the peace hope dawn."

Chiang said peace also would be possible if Japanese militarists abandoned their "traditional, aggressive policy," but if Japan "persists in her dream that the outcome of the war will be a new order in the Far East, then a permanent, pacific peace is impossible."

"Any Chinese not an idiot or traitor concurs in this viewpoint," Chiang repeated his determination to continue the fight until Chinese national liberty and independence were won.

A Chinese military spokesman said the "elastic ribbon" tactics of the Chinese—harassment designed not to precipitate large-scale bat-ties—were checking the Japanese from the South China coast to Mongolia in the north.

He said the highly mobile operations of the Chinese had frustrated Japanese pressure toward Changsha, Hunan Province capital, had prevented organization of an offensive west from Canton into Kwangsi Province and had blocked the westward push along the Lung-hai railway toward Chengchow, Northern Honan.

Don't rush the Season, Ladies

RIGHT NOW PHILLIPS 66 IS MATCHED TO APRIL WEATHER

The Dip That Gives Goose Flesh in April is undoubtedly grand fun in July... And the gasoline that is full of zip and zing in August can easily be a dud during these early days of spring.

To protect the performance of your motor, to smooth out the differences which changes in climate may make, Phillips custom-tailors gasoline to the weather. Changes the specifications of Phillips 66 Poly Gas every month to parallel the monthly changes in temperature in your locality.

In April, Phillips 66 Poly Gas is a between-season motor fuel. In August, it is a cooler summer gas. In December, it is a fast-starting winter gas. Always, it is custom-tailored to deliver pace-making performance in every season. And scientific laboratory and field surveys prove that no other gasoline—not a single one—is so accurately matched, all year round, to the monthly variations in your weather.

What does it all mean? Well, try just one tankful and judge by results.

It's a real thrill to feel that difference behind the wheel when the tank is filled with this outstanding, custom-tailored, high test gasoline. And it is thrifty, too, because Phillips 66 Poly Gas costs nothing extra... at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Continued Improvement

A pledge to continue improvement is an essential part of the declaration of policy of the Illinois Central System.

It is our aim to improve the instruments of transportation. Current examples are streamline trains, air-conditioned cars, new power, stronger track. These promote comfort, convenience, safety.

It is also our aim to improve the methods of transportation—to find new ways to serve. Current examples are free pillows and low-priced meals for coach travelers, free pickup and delivery of package freight, faster and more convenient schedules, on-time arrivals, effective tracing of shipments.

To initiate or to adopt an improvement of either kind requires open-mindedness with regard to new ideas. We endeavor to keep an open mind.

As proof of that, we invite and welcome constructive criticism and suggestions.

Folk and Hadley Vetted Bills For Police Home Rule on Ground They Would Put Force in Politics

Parties' Demand for Change From Metropolitan System Has Largely Disappeared Since Two Reform Administrations.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, in support of his pending bill for State control of the Kansas City police, has cited the messages of two of his predecessors, Joseph W. Folk and Herbert S. Hadley, vetoing bills which would have removed city police departments from State control.

Gov. Folk, a Democrat, vetoed the bill passed by the Republican House and Democratic State Senate in 1905, which would have placed the St. Louis Police Department under control of the Mayor. St. Louis then had a Democratic Mayor, Rolla Wells.

Gov. Hadley, a Republican, vetoed the bill passed by the Democratic Legislature of 1911, applying to the St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph Police Departments. The bill provided for the election of a four-member Police Board, the voters of each party to elect two members.

Gov. Folk's Message.
At the time of his veto, Gov. Folk was quoted as saying that the measure submitted to him would mean "Not home rule, but hell rule." While he did not use that phrase in his veto message, he did say: "This measure would give anarchy to St. Louis in the sheep's clothing of home rule. . . I do not think the bill is the result of careful consideration; even a cursory examination must convince one that it could not have been seriously intended." to be either non-partisan or bi-partisan. The only party who has any real authority is the Mayor, the commissioners being mere figure-heads, to do his will or be removed."

Gov. Hadley, in his 1911 veto message, described at length the bill submitted to him, which applied to the three cities then having more than 75,000 population. "Method Without Precedent."

"The apparent purpose," he wrote, "is to confer on the people of these cities the selection of a board of four police commissioners by a method which, so far as I know, is without precedent. This board shall be chosen by the 'several political parties' nominating two candidates each, and each voter shall vote for only two; later, at each biennial election, two would be nominated and elected in the same manner (one from each party)."

"The necessary effect of such a law would be to put every policeman in the three cities actively in politics, also every dramschop keeper. . . The naming of unfit candidates by either party would destroy the efficiency of the board, as the other two members, not being a majority, would be incapable of taking decisive action."

"If the practical politicians, the saloons and the policemen could not control the nominations for police commissioners by both parties, which they probably could do, they could, in a majority of the elections, control the nominations of one party or the other, and in its practical result this would impair the efficiency of the board for proper conduct of police affairs and enforcement of the law."

"This law, instead of being a proper and progressive movement toward good government, is a step in the wrong direction; the effect of its passage would be injurious to public morals and decency. The criticism made by Gov. Folk of the so-called home rule bill which he vetoed in 1905, that it 'would give anarchy to St. Louis in the sheep's clothing of home rule,' applies most appropriately to this measure."

Both Governors, Folk and Hadley had expressed themselves in favor of "home rule" police measures which would properly safeguard the public interest. Hadley said in his veto message that "a proper measure" for this purpose was then pending. The measure was then he referred, prepared by civic organizations, was not enacted.

Political Activity Disappeared.
At the turn of the century and for some years thereafter, police home rule was a major demand of political activity. They complained, as did minority elements in the Democratic party, that the police force, directed by partisan boards named by Democratic Governors, was used unfairly and unlawfully in elections and at other times. These complaints almost ceased under the reform administration of Gov. Folk, and under his Republican successor, Hadley. Under succeeding Governors, of both parties, there have been only occasional minor complaints of political activity.

Gov. Stark has cited also the opinion rendered by the late Judge W. W. Graves of the Missouri Supreme Court, in a case which arose during the administration of Henry L. Jost as Mayor of Kansas City, 1912-16. In the case before Judge Graves, the legality of State control of the Kansas City Police was attacked. Judge Graves stated:

"The principle underlying the metropolitan police system is that the first and highest duty of the State is to preserve the public peace, and that is a State duty which extends and embraces every part, division and subdivision of the State. It is a governmental duty which devolves upon the State, and not upon its municipalities any farther than the State in its sovereignty may see fit to impose it upon or delegate it to them. A police board established by the State in such cities pursuant to statutes, and the officers chosen by it, are State officers; the same power that gives to a city municipal incorporation and authority to levy taxes and raise revenue can say to it that it must use a designated portion of that revenue to maintain the public peace, not only for the benefits of those within its borders, but for those other citizens who reside elsewhere.

When Charter Provisions Are Void.
"The charter of Kansas City is subject to the laws of the State in all matters of State concern, and if there is a conflict between the charter provisions and the statutes the charter provisions are to that extent void. The metropolitan police system is not a matter of local self-government, but both the board and officers are State officers, and the statute creating the system is but the exercise of the police power of the sovereign State. And it makes no difference that the State law antedates the city charter."

St. Louis Law Different.
Under the St. Louis police law, the St. Louis Police Board also has authority to fix amounts which the Board of Aldermen is required to appropriate. A difference between the St. Louis law and the overturned Kansas City law is that the St. Louis police appropriation comes after necessary appropriations for health, hospital and street lighting purposes, municipal debt interest and sinking fund. Under the Kansas City law, no municipal purpose has priority over the police appropriation.

The Supreme Court, in its 1932 decision, said the St. Louis and St. Joseph police laws differed radically from that of Kansas City, and that it would be time enough to consider the validity of the St. Louis and St. Joseph laws when they are challenged in a legal proceeding.

PART THREE
NO NEUTRALITY MIDDLE GROUND, EX-ENVOY SAYS

Breckinridge Long Tells Senators Any Policy 'Either Will Get Us Into War or Keep Us Out.'

'FOREIGN-RELATIONS PRESIDENT'S TASK'

But, Since Congress Wants a Law, Former St. Louisan Prefers 'Cash and Carry' Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Breckinridge Long, former Ambassador to Italy, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that any neutrality policy Congress adopts "either will get us into war, or it will keep us out of war. There is no middle ground," he said.

Long, a former St. Louisan, explained that he believed conduct of foreign relations should be left to the President, "whether the President may be," but that since Congress apparently desired legislation, he favored the Pittman "cash and carry" proposal.

The Pittman plan would permit sales of munitions to belligerents for cash, on condition the goods are shipped in foreign vessels.

Long, who was an Assistant Secretary of State during the World War, criticized suggestions for a wartime embargo.

"It is similar to the blockade," he said, "which is also a warlike measure and associated in the minds of people abroad and in international law, along with the embargo, with the idea of war and punitive activities."

"The blockade prevents goods from entering a country, and the embargo prevents them from leaving a country. Each of them has the effect of participating in the struggle, even if on the negative side, and each has the significance of unfriendliness and may have one of hostility."

Peril of Extending Embargo.
Long said that discussion of embargoes under existing law referred only to arms and ammunition sought by warring nations.

"We do not include the cotton that goes into the explosives and clothes their armies," he said, "nor the grain and meats that feed their military establishments, nor the oil which means mobility for the mechanized forces of today."

"Furthermore, if we attempt during the existence of a war to enlarge our list of contraband—to include, for instance, oil—we immediately find ourselves considered by the Government affected as taking an unfriendly step—to have aligned ourselves with the Powers opposing that particular belligerent because we have allegedly changed our position during the war."

Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), asserted yesterday that imposition of economic sanctions against violators of treaties with the United States would constitute an act of war. Borah, member of the Senate committee, made his assertion in criticizing sharply the stand taken by a witness for peace organizations at the Senate committee's hearing in support of a proposed bill by Senator Thomas (Dem., Utah), which would revise the neutrality act to permit the President, with the approval of Congress, to designate a treaty violator and cut off commercial relations with such violator.

"First Step Toward War."
Charles G. Fenwick, professor of international law at Bryn Mawr, had endorsed the Thomas proposal. That certainly would be the first step toward war," Borah declared.

"In fact, it would be war itself. That is one way of carrying on war. In modern times that is a large part of the war system."

Borah asked Fenwick why the peace organizations did not advocate the prohibition of shipments of arms and ammunition to all belligerents.

"Why should we, as a great Christian nation, furnish arms and munitions of war to one nation and blow another to pieces?" he demanded.

Borah insisted that, in advocating the economic punishment of a treaty violator, the peace organizations wanted to take sides.

"You are not talking about neutrality," he said, "you are talking about unneutrality."

Fenwick replied: "I must say that I do not think there is any such thing as neutrality."

Revision Against Japan Urged.
A witness before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Maxwell S. Stewart of New York, recommended today that the Neutrality Act be revised to strike particularly at Japan. Stewart, associate editor of the Nation and national chairman of the American Friends of the Chinese People, agreed that such action would be discriminatory. He added:

The model illustrated is the Buick SPECIAL model 41 four-door touring sedan $990 delivered at Flint, Mich.

YOU'VE probably noticed that most of the folks who drive Buicks come back again and again to this great automobile when it's time to buy a new car.

There are reasons for that.

Sticking to Buick means you're sure every year that you're getting top value, and no hunting all over town to find it.

Repeating on Buick means that season after season you ride behind the Buick valve-in-head straight-eight, that Dynaflex powerhouse that's livelier and thrifter than engines of other type.

Year after year you'll travel in comfort—the smooth, easy, level-going comfort of the torque-tube drive and BuicOil Springing.

You always have room in a Buick—and this year you've a new and broader outlook through 412 added square inches of safety plate glass. And you're leading the style parade with appearance that's like a leaf from tomorrow's book.

All of which adds up, you'll find, to satisfaction so complete that once you've got the Buick driving habit, no other car quite seems to measure up.

Now this big strong resilient straight-eight costs less than you think—less than a year ago—even less than some sixes.

So why not simplify your car-buying for all time—get that smart Buick riding habit now.

In no other way that we know can you make sure of having so much fun. Or of getting so much value for every penny you spend!

Breckinridge Long Tells Senators Any Policy
'Either Will Get Us Into War or Keep Us Out.'

'FOREIGN RELATIONS PRESIDENT'S TASK'

But, Since Congress Wants a Law, Former St. Louisan Prefers 'Cash and Carry' Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Breckinridge Long, former Ambassador to Italy, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that any neutrality policy Congress adopts "either will get us into war, or it will keep us out of war. There is no middle ground," he said.

Long, a former St. Louisan, explained that he believed conduct of foreign relations should be left to the President, "whoever the President may be," but that since Congress apparently desired legislation, he favored the Pittman "cash and carry" proposal.

The Pittman plan would permit sales of munitions to belligerents for cash, on condition the goods are shipped in foreign vessels.

Long, who was an Assistant Secretary of State during the World War, criticized suggestions for a wartime embargo.

"It is similar to the blockade," he said, "which is also a wartime measure and associated in the minds of people abroad and in international law, along with the embargo, with the idea of war and punitive activities."

"The blockade prevents goods from entering a country, and the embargo prevents them from starting to a country. Each of them has the effect of participating in the struggle, even if on the negative side, and each has the significance of friendliness and may have one of hostility."

Peril of Extending Embargo. Long said that discussion of embargo under existing law referred only to arms and ammunition sought by warring nations.

"We do not include the cotton that goes into the explosives and clothes their armies," he said, "nor the grain and meats that feed their military establishments, nor the oil which means mobility for the mechanized forces of today."

"Furthermore, if we attempt during the existence of a war to enlarge our list of contraband—to include, for instance, oil—we immediately find ourselves considered by the Government affected as taking an unfriendly step to have aligned ourselves with the Powers opposing that particular belligerent because we have allegedly changed our position during the war."

Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), asserted yesterday that imposition of economic sanctions against violators of treaties by the United States would constitute an act of war. Borah, member of the Senate committee, made his assertion in criticizing sharply the stand taken by a witness for peace organizations at the Senate committee's hearing in support of a proposal by Senator Thomas (Dem., Utah), who would revise the neutrality act to permit Congress, to designate a treaty violator and cut off commercial relations with such violator.

Smyth vs. Ames, the 40-Year-Old Formula for Fixing Utility Values for Rate-Making Purposes, Again Comes Under Attack—Justice Frankfurter's Views.

WASHINGTON, April 19. CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES, in one of his Columbia University lectures prior to his present term of service on the Supreme Court, referred to dissenting opinions as being often appeals to the "brooding spirit of the law." Such were a number of the great dissents by the late Justice Holmes, in expounding a philosophy of the law that has come to be the dominant philosophy in the Supreme Court. The notable opinion of Justice Stone attacking the views of the majority in the AAA case was another example. Still another, of continuing importance, was the separate concurrence by former Justice Brandeis (joined by Holmes) in the four dissenters in the memorable Southwestern Bell Telephone rate case in 1923.

It was in that case that the majority of the court found in the ancient rule of Smyth vs. Ames a reason for knocking out a telephone rate reduction ordered by the Public Service Commission of Missouri. The court held that the commission had not given due weight, as required by Smyth vs. Ames, to the replacement cost of the telephone company's properties. Justices Brandeis and Holmes concurred in the result, but not in the reasoning by which it was reached.

Again in 1929, Smyth vs. Ames reached out of the dusty tomes of Supreme Court rulings to demolish the valuation formula applied by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the famous O'Fallon case.

Again the court held that the regulatory commission had not taken proper account of what it would cost to reproduce the properties in question—this time the railroads of the United States. Justice Brandeis gave a dissenting opinion in which he was joined by Justices Holmes and Stone. Again he invoked the "brooding spirit of the law" against Smyth vs. Ames.

Smyth vs. Ames bobbed up again last Monday in a Pennsylvania utility rate case. It did not control the decision of the court, which went against the Edison Light and Power Co., but it was cited in the court's opinion as being the "classical" doctrine on the rate-making subject. Justice Reed read the opinion. Though there was no dissent from the result, the reasoning of Justice Reed provoked a sharp retort from Justice Frankfurter, who was supported by Justice Black.

Taking up the role of Justice Brandeis, the former Harvard professor trained his guns on Smyth vs. Ames in a way that left no doubt he will carry on the long fight for reversal. His opinion is noteworthy, too, as an example of the utter frankness with which the law of contending economic philosophies on the court is now being carried on. No pulling of punches. It will not be surprising if ultimately it follows the doctrine of public employees' tax immunities into the judicial waste-basket.

Even in the opinion to which Justice Frankfurter objects, because it appears to give "new vitality" to Smyth vs. Ames, the doctrine is not clothed with the authority that it once enjoyed. It will not be surprising if ultimately it follows the doctrine of public employees' tax immunities into the judicial waste-basket.

However that issue ought to be resolved, the fact seems clear, as the Justice says, that the "moribund" formula of Smyth vs. Ames is "useless as a guide for adjudication" under present conditions. Various states, as he further points out, are seeking by other devices to find "fair means of accommodating public and private interests."

ing dissents and separate concurrences, show with great clarity the present cleavage on the court on large economic issues. Not long ago in the majority, Justices McReynolds and Butler today stand isolated.

To return to Smyth vs. Ames. The doctrine is now 40 years old. It is a curious and ironic fact that the "cost-of-reproduction" theory which forms an essential part of Smyth vs. Ames was first brought forward by William Jennings Bryan in an effort to beat down railroad rates. The railroads had been built at inflated prices; Bryan contended that rates ought to be based not on the original cost of the roads, but on what it would cost to reproduce them. With the rise in commodity costs during and after the war, the theory which Bryan had urged in the public interest began to cut the other way. It was now the railroads and the other utilities that wanted their properties, for rate-making purposes, valued according to what it would cost to rebuild them.

The magnitude of the issue was illustrated in the O'Fallon case, where it was shown that if the reproduction theory were given full force and effect, the value of the railroads (as of 1929) would be more than doubled, or, as Justice Stone said, they would "have a value of $400,000,000 and we would arrive at the economic paradox that the present value of the railroads is far in excess of any amount on which they could earn a return."

Smyth vs. Ames, and the decision of the Supreme Court which have stemmed from it, enumerate various factors to which due consideration must be given in the fixing of utility values for rate-making purposes. The decisions do not, of course, they cannot—fix the exact weight which must be assigned to several factors. Hence the endless confusion into which the whole business of rate-making has been plunged by judicial formula, or by the lack of it. Justice Frankfurter states a patent fact when he says, quoting an opinion of Justice Bradley of 50 years ago, that the "unvarying issue is whether the rate-makers of utility rates should be the courts, or commissions and legislatures."

However that issue ought to be resolved, the fact seems clear, as the Justice says, that the "moribund" formula of Smyth vs. Ames is "useless as a guide for adjudication" under present conditions. Various states, as he further points out, are seeking by other devices to find "fair means of accommodating public and private interests."

PHIL LA FOLLETTE URGES RECALL OF JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

Ex-Governor of Wisconsin
Implies Efforts for Democracy Are Largely Nullified by Ambassador.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin, who returned recently from a tour of seven European countries, termed Naziism the gravest foreign danger in America's history and outlined a six-point attack against it, in an address last night before the Economic Club.

He declared, however, that to attempt such an attack "in alliance with the present ruling forces of Britain and France" would subject the United States to "the gravest risks."

He added, "Speaking for myself alone, I do not hesitate to say that the President would perform a public service if he immediately recalled our Ambassador to Great Britain (Joseph P. Kennedy) and replaced him with the best Benjamin Franklin he can find."

La Follette said his use of the term "Naziism" applied to the governments of both Germany and Italy.

Praising Mr. Roosevelt's peace appeal to Hitler and Mussolini as being "based on an honest effort to solve the underlying economic problems by peaceful discussion," La Follette said, "there is no responsible head of governments who has sensed more accurately than the President the danger of Naziism."

La Follette's proposals.

The policy outlined by La Follette, follows in part:

"First. Let our own house in order. Restore to every able-bodied American the right to earn a decent living from useful work. By so doing we shall safeguard democracy at home and take a big step toward undermining dictatorship abroad."

"Second. Re-define the Monroe Doctrine. Make it clear that we will not tolerate Naziism in any form in any part of this hemisphere."

"Third. Establish the closest economic and political relations with all the Americas, but especially with our closest neighbors, Canada and Mexico."

"Fourth. Encourage the forces that really believe in democracy not only in Britain and France but in Germany and Italy. Make certain that our representatives abroad really believe in democracy."

At that point he suggested Kennedy's recall, preceding his eloquent tributes to democracy here in America can be largely nullified if our representatives abroad by daily, public conduct support those forces in Europe least concerned about our democracy."

"Fifth. Give Naziism a dose of its own medicine. Naziism has meddled flagrantly in the affairs of other countries and resorted to any device to weaken and undermine those who oppose it. Naziism must be smashed, but there is an excellent chance that it can be done without war. If war eventually should come, every step taken to support democratic elements in Europe, including Germany and Italy, will shorten such a war immeasurably."

"Sixth. We should hold off from entanglements in Europe until and unless it becomes unmistakably clear that the principles, ideals and vital interest of the American people are actually at issue."

Danger in Alliance. In advocating wariness of a British-French-American alliance, La Follette said:

"We should recall two things: 'First. Those who have dominated the governments of France and Britain, and who put into practice the mistaken policies which had a large part in driving democracy out and put Naziism into power in Germany.'

"Second. These cliques in France and Britain until recently never raised a finger to oppose Naziism, and until four weeks ago were actually engaged in giving it aid and comfort."

MAIN BODY OF FLEET STARTS FOR THE PACIFIC TOMORROW

Three Small Ships Made Ready for Earlier Departure Under Transfer Order.

NORFOLK, Va., April 19 (AP).—Admiral C. C. Bloch, Commander-in-Chief of the United States fleet, said today the main body of the fleet now in Virginia waters would begin the return to the Pacific at 6 a. m. tomorrow. Three of the smaller ships, Bridge, Arctic and Antares, were prepared for departure today.

Movement of the fleet back to western waters was ordered unexpectedly Saturday by the Navy Department.

The battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of Admiral Bloch, arrived this morning from Annapolis and Rear Admiral commanding various units went aboard for a conference.

The official program follows: "Wednesday, June 7: Their Majesties will enter the United States from Canada at Niagara Falls, New York State, late in the evening, where they will be received by an official reception committee (including Secretary of State Hull), and will proceed by train direct to Washington."

"Thursday, June 8: Their Majesties will arrive about 11 a. m. at the Union Station, Washington, where they will be met by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The King and Queen and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt with their respective suites will motor in a procession to the White House where the heads of mission of the diplomatic corps will subsequently be received. After luncheon privately at the White House, Their Majesties will attend a garden party at the British Embassy in the afternoon. In the evening, a state dinner, followed by a reception, will be given at the White House."

"Friday, June 9: In the morning Their Majesties, accompanied by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, will proceed to Mount Vernon by water on board the U. S. S. Potomac, lunching en route. After luncheon, the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of George Washington. On leaving Mount Vernon the party will proceed by motor to Arlington Cemetery, where the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Their Majesties and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will thereafter return to the White House. In the evening, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will

Senator McReynolds Proposes Repeal of School Bond Levy.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19 (AP).—One of the few tax reduction measures of the current legislative session was introduced yesterday by Senator Allen McReynolds (Dem., Carthage). He proposed repeal of the 1931 levy of 1 cent on each $100 property valuation for interest and retirement of State school and seminary bonds.

"The State Auditor informs me the State has enough reserve to meet those payments for the next three or four years without this tax," McReynolds explained.

Senator McReynolds Proposes Repeal of School Bond Levy.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19 (AP).—One of the few tax reduction measures of the current legislative session was introduced yesterday by Senator Allen McReynolds (Dem., Carthage). He proposed repeal of the 1931 levy of 1 cent on each $100 property valuation for interest and retirement of State school and seminary bonds.

"The State Auditor informs me the State has enough reserve to meet those payments for the next three or four years without this tax," McReynolds explained.

Official Program for British Royal Visit Includes State Dinner, Day at Hyde Park.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will meet King George and Queen Elizabeth of England at the railroad station when they arrive in Washington on June 8.

They will then ride with them in a motor procession to the White House where the royal pair will be guests during their two-day visit in the capital.

The official program follows: "Wednesday, June 7: Their Majesties will enter the United States from Canada at Niagara Falls, New York State, late in the evening, where they will be received by an official reception committee (including Secretary of State Hull), and will proceed by train direct to Washington."

"Thursday, June 8: Their Majesties will arrive about 11 a. m. at the Union Station, Washington, where they will be met by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The King and Queen and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt with their respective suites will motor in a procession to the White House where the heads of mission of the diplomatic corps will subsequently be received. After luncheon privately at the White House, Their Majesties will attend a garden party at the British Embassy in the afternoon. In the evening, a state dinner, followed by a reception, will be given at the White House."

"Friday, June 9: In the morning Their Majesties, accompanied by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, will proceed to Mount Vernon by water on board the U. S. S. Potomac, lunching en route. After luncheon, the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of George Washington. On leaving Mount Vernon the party will proceed by motor to Arlington Cemetery, where the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Their Majesties and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will thereafter return to the White House. In the evening, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will

HARTFORD, Conn., April 19 (AP).—Connecticut, the last of the 48 states to ratify the bill of rights, put its final stamp of approval today on the nation's fundamental guarantees of liberty, which have been in the Constitution nearly 150 years. The State Senate adopted a ratifying resolution. Similar action was taken by the House a week ago.

Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin sent the Senate a special message, remarking that Connecticut had its own bill of rights as far back as 1850.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Fascist War Machine.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

At the present time the American people have an opportunity to repeal or revise the Neutrality Act. It is fortunate that the opportunity presents itself at a time which will not endanger our relationships with any country; the German press, amid all its hysterical screams and accusations of war mongers, has not threatened to discontinue diplomatic relations. In addition, we have had an opportunity to see how the act works and what it does in terms of actual experience, not theory.

The Neutrality Act as it stands has pleased Germany. Let's please ourselves this time. England and France may not be behaving in just the fashion some of us would like them to, but I think we would be much more uneasy should they become vassals or subjects of Germany, which is not too impossible, in the light of concessions Germany and Italy have already gained.

Fascism gets what it wants by threats, or war, or it collapses. Fascism is a war machine pure and simple. War machinery becomes obsolescent just the same as any other machinery. Anyone who thinks that a few Balkan countries, and a few moth-eaten colonies can stop a Fascist country, is not familiar with the structure, aims and necessities of a militarized country.

Hitler says, in "Mein Kampf": "If you are a true pacifist you will strive to see that Germany controls the whole world, because only then can there be peace. Only the Germans know how to keep the peace." I personally don't want to see any one country control the world, and I would like to get to Europe before it's all Germany.

I consider Roosevelt's letter to Hitler a masterpiece of literature and a state document that will be remembered a long time as a sincere plea for peace. If it accomplishes nothing more than calling the bluff of the Fascist countries who blab about peace while stealing their neighbors' chickens, it will have done enough.

DOROTHY HINDS SPEAR.

O Dr. Crane!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Dr. George W. (Case Records of a Psychologist) Crane undertakes to criticize a critic for spelling "dumm," a word that the worthy doctor evidently thinks should have spelled "dumb." It is refreshing to find an omniscient psychologist in error. The dictionaries and any South St. Louis German could tell Dr. Crane it means exactly what the critic meant: "dumm" is German for stupid; "dumb," dear dumm but not dumb doctor, means mute, speechless, silent.

H. T. M.

Favors U. S. Assertion of Force.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WAR is the most detestable thing in life. Every right-thinking man and woman is against it. As a nation, war offends our political and economic philosophy. Humanity weeps at the very thought of it, but our fondest hopes and deepest desires for peace must not blind us to the cold, hard facts. Action, not "watchful waiting," is required.

Great Britain and France are not fully prepared for war. Apparently, Germany and Italy are. The result of armed conflict between those nations is extremely doubtful. If Germany and Italy should win, it would undoubtedly mean the acquisition by them of the British and French fleets, or their complete destruction. England and France would be reduced to third-rate nations and Germany and Italy would become the dominating and controlling world powers. With Japan's navy they could overlord the high seas beyond the possibility of opposition. Their mastery would result in an economic orgy. Japan, Germany and Italy would feed the masses upon the rest of the world, including the United States. We would be powerless to oppose them.

A statement by the United States that, upon the declaration of a European war, it would of necessity immediately enter the conflict with its armed forces, would absolutely prevent such a declaration. The assertion of force had better be made now by the United States, when it will be effective to prevent the horrors, sufferings and anguish occasioned by war, rather than at a later time, when it will be impotent to do so, even to protect itself.

G. T. PRIEST.

Against Married Women Working.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I HAVE read your article on the suffering resulting from the relief situation in St. Louis. I cannot understand how any red-blooded citizen can read it and not hang his head in shame.

There are Government, city and other well-paid male employees allowing their wives to work every day of the week, too, earning enough to support their families. The employer should be asked to join with this committee to discharge any who are so situated. Woman workers, who are working in order that they might have luxuries, while other families are not even getting the bare necessities of life, should be discharged.

O. U.

THE PRESIDENT ON WORLD TRADE.

Secretary of State Hull is standing by his program of promoting world trade by means of reciprocity treaties, despite indications that President Roosevelt's faith in the plan is waning.

Mr. Hull, who is reported to have been deeply disappointed at the President's sponsorship of the cotton export subsidy scheme, yesterday issued a statement pointing out the gains in trade which the United States has registered with countries with which reciprocal trade agreements have been negotiated. Then, to give his statement additional weight, he detailed the losses in trade which Germany has sustained with the same countries by resorting to barter methods.

The State Department's report by no means supports the gloomy view of world trade to which President Roosevelt recently gave expression. In view of the military aggression of the dictators, said the President, we must decide whether: (1) to become reconciled to the loss of our foreign markets and stop foreign trade altogether; (2) to continue to compete for foreign trade and lower wages and living conditions in order to do so, or (3) to subsidize exports.

It is possible, with some reservations, to do the first. We can stop foreign trade, except that we must carry on enough to enable us to import raw rubber, pig tin, tungsten, coffee and a few other essentials not available in this country. It seems inconceivable that the President is seriously proposing any such economic isolationism.

It is possible, too, to subsidize exports. But export subsidies are necessary only to nations which exclude foreign goods by high tariffs. Export subsidies would mean that since we did not allow foreign nations to sell to us and thereby get the dollar exchange with which to buy our goods, we were having to make them a partial gift of our products.

That leaves us, according to the President, the alternative of lowering our wage scales and living standards in order to compete for foreign trade. This view, according to the long-accepted economic beliefs of the Democratic party, savors of heresy. It overlooks entirely the law of comparative advantage of production, the economic principle which teaches us that nations engaged in trade are enabled to raise their standards of living when they produce the things which their climate, mineral resources or industrial specialization enable them to produce most efficiently, and import the things in the production of which other nations have an advantage.

As a matter of fact, Secretary Hull and the Federal Tariff Commission have been quite busy for the past few years issuing convincing documents to the effect that the very industries in this country which have the highest wage scales are the ones which are able to compete best against the low wage industries of the foreign countries. Our superior mass-production methods, they say, more than overcome the low labor costs in other countries.

Is the President, moreover, not confusing nominal wages with real wages? If a lowering of our tariffs to admit a moderate amount of foreign goods resulted in bringing down our wage scales, but at the same time brought down by an even greater proportion the cost of the things which labor must buy, there would be a net gain for the worker. And there would be a still greater gain for the cotton and wheat farmer, the white collar worker and the millions who are presently unemployed. Only one-seventh of our gainfully employed workers are in industries which are subject to competition from foreign products.

The fact that foreign nations are sacrificing billions of their precious gold reserves in order to buy our goods indicates that all we need to do to revive our foreign trade is to reduce our tariffs.

ATTENTION, OLYMPUS!

Secretary Ickes is sitting up nights composing bitter attacks on the press. As a prosecuting attorney, concerned only with obtaining a conviction, he enjoys unusual advantages. He does not have to stay within the evidence. The restraints of truth do not cramp his style at all. He has made accusations which have been shown to be false and he has lacked the elemental decency to acknowledge his error. Instead of retracting, he repeats.

Can it be that Ickes aspires to be a Minister of Propaganda, like Goebbels, or the voice of the ruling house, like Gayda? Would he Nazify or Italianize our newspapers, to the end that the administration can do no wrong? The question is preposterous, but no more so than Ickes' performance. Attention, Olympus, and we are not talking to the hangers-on who are always clustering around the elixir bowl or the ambrosia counter. We are addressing the No. 1 man, himself. A thunderbolt, Jove, a bean ball with a hop on it, and rid us of the rantings of this national pain in the neck.

THE PRODIGALS RETURN.

They're coming back. One by one they are returning to this coarse, uncouth, uncultured, provincial America which they had taken leave of forever.

It was 40 years ago—midway in the Mauve Decade—when Anna Gould became the Countess de Castellane. No Winchell was around to serve a morsel of before-it-happened news. No Lucius Beebe drank their health in a goblet of correctly chosen vintage. Fis de siecle would swing into the new century which, in turn, would be leaving its teens before Hollywood had stripped glamour of its sheen. Even so, the scribes of that un-riveted day told the social saga pretty well. The moving finger subsequently wrote the Countess a Duchess, and now, to the mutings of late autumn's violins, the aging woman will be listening to footfalls of long buried memories.

The Woolworth heiress, shimmering apotheosis of the dynasty of five-and-ten, counts her forfeited American citizenship among her lost treasures, discovers a haunting note of tenderness in the blue of America's skies, and the bobolinks in the meadows sing a welcoming home, sweet home.

Louis Bromfield may have found in Paris the city of his soul's longing, but the buckeyes of his childhood again command his wonder by their centred majesty, and the lake-cooled winds that sweep across Ohio again, perhaps, chant dim, fond lullabies.

And Ezra Pound. Into what far dimension that hieroglyphic poet carried the tongue of Shakespeare "we never could know and never could understand," but the name Ezra has the consoling flavor of that day when "America's laughter was lucky laughter."

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious draft dodger of World War days, prefers a long term in an American penitentiary to continued existence in his once-beloved Germany.

The Europe of tradition, ancient beauty, immeasurable heritage, supreme manners, trembles, anticipates.

ingly, to the tread of marching legions, shivers under the "ghastly dews" of Tennyson's prophetic skies, and in abandoned America our exiles seek asylum.

How is it at Cliveden, overlooking the soiled and troubled flow of those centuries of "liquid history"? Is Lady Nancy supervising the packing of the titled Lares and Penates and looking beyond the Thames to the green sweep of the Old Dominion?

SHOULD 20,000 CHILDREN BE ADMITTED?

Despite the economic hardships of our own citizens, Senator Wagner's proposal to admit 20,000 German refugee children into the United States in 1939 and 1940, over and above quota restrictions, has received widespread support. It has been approved by such newspapers as the New York Herald Tribune and the Richmond Times-Dispatch, by ex-President Hoover, by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who thus breaks her rule of silence toward pending legislation; by Cardinal Mundelein and, in principle, by the CIO and AFL.

The children to be admitted are all under the age of 14 and would thus offer no immediate competition in the labor market. It would be necessary for each to have sponsors—persons willing to receive and support them, guaranteeing that they would not become public charges. Mrs. Coolidge, for instance, is a member of a group of Northampton (Mass.) women who wish to take 25 of the refugees. About half of the children are full-blooded Jews; the remaining half are Catholics or Protestants who may have had a non-Aryan grandparent or whose parents have incurred the disfavor of ruling authorities in Germany.

Other countries have already acted to provide homes for these unfortunate youngsters. Great Britain, waiving the usual entrance regulations, has taken 2500 and has made preparations to take 5000 more. Holland, Belgium and France have opened their doors to others. Little Holland alone has accepted 1700 children and has not yet closed the doors. None of these countries is as well able as our own to make places for the children.

It is hardly necessary to point out that the condition of the children is tragic in the extreme; the parents of many are in concentration camps or so reduced in circumstances and so devoid of hope that they are willing to undergo the excruciating experience of breaking up the family to permit the youngsters to have a fair chance in life.

No longer is this country open to the oppressed of all lands, as it once was, and the distress of many of our own people is great. Yet the case of these European children, reduced to poverty and cast adrift through no fault of their own, is a very special one. Among them there are no doubt some who will add luster to their adopted countries; and most of them will become useful citizens, passionately attached to the land which gave them their only chance to lead normal lives.

HIGHLIGHTS OF TRIAL NO. 1.

Kansas City Trial No. 1, under the indictments returned by Judge Southern's grand jury, has come and gone. It took the jury 27 minutes to free the defendant, County Judge David E. Long, though how it amused itself for so long is not known.

On the jury were three members of the Pendergast machine—city employees of Kansas City. A fourth juror is a nephew of a district fire chief. A fifth was a WPA worker who used to work for the city, and the sixth a man enjoying city business. The judge who presided over the case is one Albert C. Ridge, who is on the bench by grace of Tom Pendergast. Judge Ridge refused to quash the panel from which this jury was chosen, though it was shown that it was full of disqualified persons and selected in violation of legal practices.

On the eve of trial, it was disclosed that Judge Long's two sons had made restitution to Jackson County of $10,260.45. Long was charged with corruptly allowing claims against county funds to repair a building owned by his own sons.

During the trial, the State's chief witness unexpectedly folded up and failed to testify as he was expected to.

In charge of the State's case was Attorney-General Roy McKittrick. Mr. McKittrick, having accepted Pendergast support for the job he holds, is in an exceedingly uncomfortable position.

Such are some of the highlights of Trial No. 1. Considering the nature of the jury panel and the usual workings of justice in a Pendergast, the succeeding trials will likewise come under the head of farce comedy.

They are getting food, clothing and perfume out of the pine trees, but what this country needs is a fine, spreading old oak that will yield tax receipts.

COL. LINDBERGH'S NEW DUTY.

The Government's determination to perfect the national defense by bringing the Army Air Corps to high efficiency is highlighted by the recall of Col. Lindbergh to active duty, for the purpose of making a survey of research facilities. The noted flyer has had unparalleled opportunities in the last two years for observing aviation development abroad. This experience, together with his keen knowledge of flying, fits him ideally to make such a survey, and to collaborate in policy-making with officers who have specialized in military aviation more than he.

This country several years ago lost its No. 1 position in aviation research and development. Major-General H. H. Arnold, Army Air Corps chief, testified recently that lack of research facilities had put "our performances in army and navy planes at least one year and possibly two years behind where we should stand." Another expert warned that "Germany is building better military planes than we are."

Congress has voted large funds for building planes but, despite these warnings, it has been strangely lagard in setting aside money for research. The proposal for a $4,000,000 outlay to establish a research center at Sunnyside, Cal., was rejected by the House several weeks ago, but was approved by the Senate yesterday. Certainly a huge construction program without the benefit of the fullest possible research would be a foolish performance.

For Col. Lindbergh himself, the assignment will be a welcome opportunity to serve his country, and a chance to squelch the last of the ugly rumors that sprang up concerning his activities abroad. It is not the Colonel's habit to explain or apologize; he rests his case with the public on actions rather than words. He has already performed an invaluable patriotic service by his reports on foreign aviation. Now he accepts an opportunity to amplify that service by survey and counsel on the home front.

And now Carollo is landed in the indictment net. They're fishing for whales in Kansas City and having grand luck.

Debts Must Be Paid

Policy of deficit financing, if not corrected, threatens eventual breakdown of Government credit, says writer; considerable slack remains, but it is needed as reserve for demands of possible war; urges balancing of budget through higher taxes or retrenchment.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Harry Scherman, Author of "The Promises Men Live By," in the Saturday Evening Post.

IN the three years ending next month, America's present President and Congress will have spent just about the same amount as all their predecessors put together, in the 125 years between the inauguration of Washington and the beginning of the World War in 1914, including four good-sized wars during that time.

There are, roughly, about 31,500,000 families in the United States. In the 10 years ending in 1930—the most prosperous period in the nation's history—the average amount taken in taxes each year was about $275 per family. In the past three years this average has been about $416 for every family.

This is merely the money taken from us, not the amount spent; a good deal more than this was spent and will have to be added to future taxes if the debt is gradually to be repaid.

Our greater willingness to be taxed in recent years is shown even better by comparing these total tax collections with our total income as a people. In the 10 years between 1922 and 1931, inclusive, about 12 1/2 per cent of our national income, as an annual average, was taken from us in taxes. In the past three years, about 20 per cent, as an average, has been so taken.

This, by the way, is about the same as the British Government takes from its people's income for all government purposes, national and local. Many people imagine that as a people we are not so heavily taxed as the British; the mistake they make is that this simply used to be true. We now pay just as much per capita as the British in taxes, and as great a share of our national income—around 20 per cent.

In the fiscal year just about to end—on June 30—it is estimated that the average American family will have paid out in taxes no less than $420, and about $170 of this will have been taken by the Federal Government. But the Federal expenditures, at their present Himalayan plateau of nine and a half billion dollars, already come roughly to about $300 per family. Moreover, the least that ought to be done about the Federal debt, in common prudence, is to reduce it about one billion dollars a year.

That would give us some leeway in case a genuine emergency—like another World War, in which we might be involved—comes along in the next dozen years. These necessary extra debt-retirement payments of one billion dollars a year would amount roughly to another $30 more per family, or $330 to the $300 for present Federal expenditures, that makes $330 per family a year.

There, then, are the two unbridled levels which really constitute the problem: about $170 now taken from the average family in taxes by the Federal Government and about $330—almost twice as much—that will have to be taken per family, in addition to local taxes, if Federal expenditures are to remain at their present level and if the debt is to begin to be slowly paid.

The difference—$160 per family—can be conceived of as that cliff which has to be fattened out for safety's sake; and, plainly, this feat of social engineering can be accomplished only in one of two ways—either the Federal expenditures have to be lessened by around five billion dollars a year or the level of willingly borne taxation must be raised by that huge sum.

Adding one billion dollars for slow debt retirement to present expenditures of $9,500,000,000 makes $10,500,000,000. The Federal tax collections in the year ending June 30 will be about $5,250,000,000; the difference, over five billion dollars, can be found only by raising taxes, by decreasing expenses or by borrowing.

When the Government, by excessive borrowing, reaches the point where lenders are fearful of relinquishing their present purchasing power to it, the system of perpetually replacing old Government promises with new breaks down. This debacle is what is referred to by the term "breakdown of Government credit," which you often hear and only in the vaguest way understand.

Needless to say, our own Government's credit, as indicated by the money markets, is very, very far from that stage. What is more, it need never get to that stage unless we are incredibly careless. Nonetheless, we must all realize that the philosophy of deficit financing which has governed our national affairs for seven years inevitably carries the Government along the road to that stage.

Such a course would inevitably undermine that vast interdependent debt structure by which our society keeps itself at its present standard of living. That is, those who advocate an ever-increasing debt, even by implication, are in a sense modern Samsons.

Without realizing it, the monetary position of these theorists is not far removed from that of canny Lenin at the outset of the Russian Revolution—"to let money achieve a sort of suicide," as one writer has put it. Therefore, deliberately, as part of the technique of modern revolution, he printed rubles by billions of billions.

Now, increasing the Federal debt ad infinitum, even if slowly, is like printing paper money ad infinitum, with no gold or other precious metal behind it.

The simple choice is between two courses. First, to continue the present activities of the Federal Government on their present scale, which will require annual expenditures of about $9,500,000,000; and, if this is the considered decision, we must be prepared without further groaning to pay, each family on the average, about $620 a year for the expenses of all government in this country, when present state and local expenses are added; this would retire only one billion dollars of debt a year.

Or, as taxpayers, we can balk at paying much more for government—national, state and local—than we now do, which has been averaging about $416 per family. If this alternative is the decision, all the present activities of the Federal Government must be enormously lessened.

Whichever of these two hard choices is ultimately accepted—or whatever combination of them—no doubt there will be bitter battles among us, initiated principally by pressure groups and demagogues seeking to gain political power. But when it is seen that unmistakably all the future of the nation is at stake, perhaps even our various pressure groups can be rendered economically literate.

Planning as a Civic Asset

Books in the News

THOSE St. Louisans who have not learned the wisdom and value of long-range planning of the physical development of the community—including many of those now in Planning—Why and How? (Longmans, Green & Co., New York). The author, Harold MacLean Lewis, is chief engineer and secretary of the New York Regional Planning Association; his father was a pioneer of planning.

The book, written for the layman, shows clearly that planning is not a visionary matter or a plaything of impractical men, but a clear duty to avoid waste, confusion and needless expense; not a matter merely of esthetics, but of easily demonstrated protection of real estate values and the desirability and usefulness of urban land. This is made plain, as is true of the business and industrial districts as of the residential district.

"If Mr. Average Citizen," says Lewis, "can be convinced that it is entirely possible, at no increased cost to him, to prevent expensive tearing down of ill-conceived and misplaced projects so that the city's money can be spent instead for new streets, parks and playgrounds in places where they will be permanently useful; if the city planners can show him that there is no need for crowding people into congested slum areas, but that it is possible to provide, at the same cost, homes with ample sunlight and relaxation space for playgrounds and recreation, then he may be willing to get on the bandwagon and become an ardent supporter of comprehensive planning and development in his city."

Planning, it is demonstrated, can save money for the taxpayers by control of development, prevention of unwise improvements and anticipation of future demands. Another showing is of the tendency, common throughout the nation, not alone in St. Louis, for excessive zoning of commercial and apartment districts, with the light effect of driving away desirable single-family home construction.

Various other problems discussed in the book are of current interest in St. Louis, and the idea of a "neighborhood unit" put forward by the City Plan Commission has been cited with approval. Among the salient points are a declaration that street congestion, through unwise property use, is a primary cause of motor vehicle accidents, and a hint of the desirability of control of architectural design as an essential element of city planning.

TODAY and

By WALTER

Our Military Position

BEFORE anyone can hope to reach wise decisions about American policy in the event of war, he must be sure that he understands the true situation which will exist if a great war breaks out. Thus, in most of the discussion in Congress it is assumed quite correctly, that if war comes, it will be in Europe. But it is almost always forgotten that since Japan is a partner of the Rome-Berlin axis, and must be counted upon to move with it, the war which begins across the Atlantic will spread at once to the Pacific.

This neglected factor in the present situation will, I believe, prove to be the controlling consideration in determining American policy. For it rules out as entirely impracticable an intervention in Europe like that of President Wilson in 1917.

Regardless of American popular sympathy in the European conflict, the sending of another American army to Europe is in the existing circumstances not to be contemplated. The military situation today is so fundamentally different from what it was in 1917 that even if the American people wished to repeat the intervention of 1917, they could not do it. For in 1917 Japan was an ally of the Western Powers; in this war, if it breaks out, Japan will be their enemy.

Once we appraise the consequences of Japan's change of sides in the alignment of the Powers, it becomes clear why President Wilson could engage the full force of the United States in Europe and why President Roosevelt could not do the same thing.

In 1917, because Japan was an ally, the United States was able to leave the Pacific unguarded—and to concentrate its whole military power in the war on the other side of the Atlantic.

Today, because Japan is itself one of the principal aggressors, the first military move made by the United States in the existing situation has had to be the withdrawal of the fleet from the Atlantic Ocean and its return to the Pacific Ocean.

Once the fleet is back in the Pacific, it will have to stay there for the duration of any war that is now in prospect. But if the fleet is in the Pacific, then the American army can cross the Atlantic. For in order to get to Europe, to be adequately supplied in Europe and, above all, to be sure of being able to return from Europe, an American expeditionary force would have to be sure of absolute and undisputed control of the Atlantic Ocean. But with the American fleet in the Pacific, an American army in Europe would be wholly dependent on the British Navy.

No American President and no American Congress who were in their right minds could think of placing an American army in Europe, and then of relying upon any other nation to maintain it. They would make certain that the army was able to come back home.

No matter how much American statesmen trusted the intentions of Great Britain, they could not dare to place the American army in a position where its very existence depended upon the capacity of Great Britain to remain the undisputed mistress of the seas. To do that would be to make the American army a hostage to a war in which it could not decide the result.

A cool appraisal of the American position in the event of war will show, it seems to me, that the position will be fully as difficult as it was in 1914-17, but that it will be fundamentally different. This time we cannot keep our fleet in the Atlantic. The fleet must stand on guard in the Pacific. We have no choice in the matter. We must take this course as a matter of elementary national defense.

For if we did not stand guard in the Pacific, the risks would be much too great. If we let the army and navy become thoroughly involved in Europe, then not only all American interests in the Pacific, but also the American position in the Pacific, but the American defenses from Alaska to Hawaii to Panama and the Pacific coast of North and South America, would be wide open to attack.

Our Military Position If War Comes

BEFORE anyone can hope to reach wise decisions about American policy in the event of war, he must be sure that he realizes the true situation which will exist if a great war breaks out. Thus, if it is assumed quite correctly that if war comes, it will be in Europe. But it is almost always forgotten that since Japan is a partner of the Rome-Berlin axis, and must be counted upon to move with the war which begins in Europe, the Atlantic will spread at once to the Pacific.

This neglected factor in the present situation will, I believe, prove to be the controlling consideration in determining American policy. For it rules out as entirely unprofitable an intervention in Europe like that of President Wilson in 1917.

Regardless of American popular sympathy in the European conflict, the sending of another American army to Europe is in the existing circumstances not to be contemplated. The military situation today is so fundamentally different from what it was in 1917 that even if the American people wished to repeat the intervention of 1917, they could not do it. For in 1917 Japan was an ally of the Western Powers; in this war, if it breaks out, Japan will be their enemy.

Once we appraise the consequences of Japan's change of sides in the alignment of the Powers, it becomes clear why President Wilson could not engage the full force of the United States in Europe and why President Roosevelt could not do the same thing.

In 1917, because Japan was an ally, the United States was able to leave the Pacific unguarded and to concentrate its whole military power in war on the other side of the Atlantic.

Today, because Japan is itself one of the principal aggressors, the first military move made by the United States in the existing situation has had to be the withdrawal of the fleet from the Atlantic Ocean and its return to the Pacific Ocean.

Once the fleet is back in the Pacific, it will have to stay there for the duration of any war that is now in prospect. But if the fleet is in the Pacific, then no American army can cross the Atlantic. For in order to get to Europe, to be adequately supplied in Europe and, above all, to be sure of being able to return from Europe, an American expeditionary force would have to be sure of absolute and undisputed control of the Atlantic Ocean.

But with the American fleet in the Pacific, an American army in Europe would be wholly dependent on the British Navy.

No American President and no American Congress who were in their right minds could think of placing an American army in Europe, and then of relying upon any other nation to maintain it and to make sure that the army was able to come back home.

No matter how much American statesmen trusted the intentions of Great Britain, they could not dare to place the American army in a position where its very existence depended upon the capacity of Great Britain to remain the undisputed mistress of the seas. To do that would be to make the American army a hostage in a war in which it could not decide the result.

A cool appraisal of the American position in the event of war will show, it seems to me, that the position will be fully as difficult as it was in 1914-17, but that it will be fundamentally different. The time we cannot keep our fleet in the Atlantic. The fleet must stand on guard in the Pacific. We have no choice in the matter. We must take this course as a matter of elementary national defense.

For if we did not stand guard in the Pacific, the risks would be much too great. If we let the army and navy become thoroughly involved in Europe, then not only American interests in the Pacific, but only the American possessions in the Pacific, but the American defenses from Alaska to Hawaii to Panama and the Pacific coast of North and South America, would be wide open to attack.

NEW JOURNAL MEANT TO UNITE AMERICAS

Published at Cambridge, Mass., by J. I. B. McCulloch, Native St. Louisan.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 19.—The first attempt to bring the Americas—North, Central and South—closer together through a general publication in the common interests of all three regions has been undertaken here under the editorship of a native St. Louisan, John I. B. McCulloch, world traveler, writer and now graduate student at Harvard University.

The new magazine is the Quarterly Journal of Inter-American Relations, which recently made its bow with an issue now exhausted. A much larger second issue is currently in circulation. Affiliated with no organization and without an official sponsor of any kind, the magazine has for its purpose the provision of "authoritative interpretation" to "the bewildering array of factors—political, economic and cultural—which condition our relations among the 20 Latin-American republics and the Dominion of Canada."

The first issue contained a proposal by Ricardo J. Alfaro, former President of the Republic of Panama, for an association of all the American nations in order to provide closer co-operation in the handling of mutual problems requiring political action. It also presented the belief of Clarence Harlow, Harvard historian, that the European Fascist threat in Latin America has been overemphasized.

Source of the Articles.

Other articles in the first two issues, which have been warmly received in Central and South America, where scholars and writers are preparing articles for future issues, include discussions of the Mexican oil problem from the international law standpoint by Payson S. Wild Jr., Canadian foreign policy by J. Bartlett Brebner, mass education in Colombia by Daniel Samper-Ortega and Andean culture by Enrique de Lozada.

McCulloch, essentially founder of the magazine as well as its editor, attended the St. Louis Country Day School and was graduated from Yale University in 1930. He has studied in New College, Oxford and at Delhi, Moscow, China and in Paris at the Ecole des Sciences Politiques. While studying Hinduism in India, he became acquainted with Gandhi and Rabindranath Tagore.

On marrying Elizabeth Ten Broeck Jones of Milwaukee in 1934, McCulloch took his wife to South-eastern Europe where they spent their honeymoon gathering material for a book of travel experiences, "Drums in the Balkan Night," published in 1936. The next year he received a master's degree in Latin-American history from Stanford University, and during parts of 1937 and 1938 he and Mrs. McCulloch traveled in Central and South America, chiefly in Brazil and Argentina.

The Editor.

McCulloch writes the monthly report on happenings in Latin-America for the magazine. Events. He is the wealthy son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch, 4394 Westminster place, St. Louis. He is 30 years old.

Associated with McCulloch in the production of the Quarterly Journal of Inter-American Relations are Frank P. Davidson of New York, Harvard senior, as managing editor, and three associate editors, John M. Clark of Washington, Nieman Fellow of Harvard studying Latin-American affairs; John H. McDonald of Montreal and Felipe Tudela, son of Francisco Tudela, Peruvian representative of the League of Nations.

Editorial office have been established at 41 Holden street, Cambridge, Mass., to which interested persons are invited by McCulloch and his associates to address inquiries and communications.

For we cannot intervene across the Atlantic while the situation is what it is in the Pacific. Japan is a first-class naval Power and cannot be kept in check by anything less than virtually all our own naval power. And so, if the axis wins in Europe and breaks through the British and French navies into the Atlantic, we shall have to find other means than any now being discussed to make the United States secure in both oceans.

These, it seems to me, are the controlling considerations which are bound to determine American policy in the event of war.

LINCOLN U. EXPANSION BILL SENT TO STARK

State Senate Passes Measure for Additional Courses at Negro School.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19.—The Senate passed today and sent to the Governor for his signature the Taylor bill designed to meet the United States Supreme Court decision in the Lloyd Gaines case, which would have opened the State University at Columbia to Negro students. The Senate vote was 26 to 4.

The bill provides for the expansion of Lincoln University, the State School for Negroes at Jefferson City, to meet demands of students for specialized schools. It directs the Board of Curators to establish such new courses as are demanded. Until such new schools are established, the bill provides the present policy of paying tuition of Negroes in schools of other states is to be continued.

The Gaines case grew out of a demand by Gaines that he be admitted to the law school of the State University, to which Negroes never have been admitted. His application was rejected, the university offering to pay his tuition in the law school in some other state.

The Supreme Court held that this was not sufficient to meet the requirement that equal educational opportunities should be given Negroes and white students. The court rejected the contention that there was no requirement that these opportunities be provided within the State and that the offer of tuition in a school outside the State met the legal situation. Following that decision the Taylor bill was introduced, it having been decided upon by members of the board of curators of the State University and the attorneys who represented the board in the Gaines case.

bill by Negroes, some of them representing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and in reply supporters of the bill contended that the purpose of the Gaines' application for admission to the university was to establish social equality rather than educational advancement of the Negroes. The opponents to the bill contended that it was a subterfuge and that it never could be expected that Lincoln University would be placed on a par with the State University at Columbia.

MAYOR DRON'S SLATE WINS IN MADISON

Dr. Harrison Re-elected in Collinsville—Other East Side Results.

Municipal elections were held yesterday in 21 villages and cities in Madison County and in 24 in St. Clair County. Three members of the six-man boards of trustees were chosen in the villages and Aldermen were elected in the cities.

In Madison, the ticket backed by Mayor Robert Dron and supporting his proposal to purchase the Chain of Rocks bridge for $2,300,000, was elected, defeating a slate backed by former Chief of Police Ray Bachman, who was ousted by Mayor Dron last November.

Voters in Brighton, 10 miles north of Alton, defeated a proposition to prohibit retail sale of liquor. The vote was 250 to 171.

Dr. M. W. Harrison, Mayor of Collinsville for the last eight years, was re-elected. Commissioners elected were Walter Delaney, George D. Allen, Harry Balthore and Robert Grieve.

Five Aldermen were elected in Edwardsville: Edward L. Eberhardt, Frank B. Weeks, George H. Blume, Charles P. Long and Walter Nolte. In a heated contest in Fairmont City, St. Clair County, Rudolph E. Huskamp, Fred E. Barthelmy and Michael Brombolich were elected trustees.

Successful candidates in other St. Clair County villages were: Dupo—Woodrow Wiseloge, Luther E. Seltzer, Louis Smothers; Brooklynn—Willie Green, William Taylor, Eddie Powell; Caseyville—William Webb, Carl Mees, Henry Ohlendorf; New Athens—Al Wellenkott, LeRoy Hanft, Albert Wilson.

Winners in Madison County villages were: Nameoli—Leonard Turnbull, John T. King, William A. Petrie; Roxana—D. H. Hunter, C. Titeworth, George T. Harris; East Alton—William H. Kell, Thomas G. Redman, William A. Linkogle. At Wood River four aldermen were elected: Jack Carstens, Jess W. Ford, Charles R. Baker, George H. Veach.

BOARD TO CHANGE MOVIE OF PLAINS TO MEET CRITICISM

Residents Say Film Misrepresents Area—Epilogue May Show Improvements.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Representative Mundt (Rep., South Dakota), said today the National Emergency Council had agreed to make no additional commitments to exhibit the Government moving picture "The Plow That Broke the Plains," until it was changed to meet criticism of some Great Plains residents.

Mundt asserted in the House recently the film was "a damnable libel on the Great Plains states which it misrepresents."

Chairman Lowell Mellett of the Emergency Council said it had considered adding an epilogue showing steps being taken to improve conditions in the plains states. He declared the film represented a large investment and would not be withdrawn.

Mundt quoted Mellett as agreeing to change a map in the picture so it would show the rivers.

INDIAN NAWAB PROPOSES TO SET UP DEMOCRACY

Ruler of Palampur Also Plans to Reduce His Income, Let Money Go to People.

BOMBAY, April 19 (AP).—The Nawab of Palampur, a small territory in Western India and the oldest Moslem state in the country, announced today sweeping constitutional reforms.

The Nawab, whose family has ruled Palampur for 500 years, proposed to transform the state from a virtual dictatorship into a broadly democratic administration by establishing a popularly elected assembly.

He also proposed to restrict his income to place the bulk of the state's revenue at the disposal of the people.

Semi-official sources said they thought the Nawab's announcement was timed to coincide with the visit to India of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former Reichsbank president of Germany, who has been accused by part of the Indian press of attempting to foment anti-British agitation among India's Moslems.

MAN SHOT TO DEATH IN ROW ON STREET AT GALATIA, ILL.

Another Admits Being in Fight and That He Was "Afraid" of Victim.

GALATIA, Ill., April 19 (AP).—Roy Shelton, 38 years old, miner, was shot and killed in a quarrel on the street here last night.

Charles Gregory, also a miner, was arrested a short time later and taken to Harrisburg. The Sheriff stated Gregory admitted in the presence of the State Attorney that he quarrelled with Shelton and was "afraid of him."

A .32 caliber pistol was taken from Gregory and a .38 special was found in his home. The nature of the quarrel was not explained. Shelton was active in the United Mine Workers Union.

REPUBLICANS OPPOSE MONETARY PROGRAM

Committee Demands Discontinuance of Silver Purchase Plan and of Devaluation.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—House opponents of legislation to extend the administration's monetary powers lined up today behind a Republican recommendation for congressional control over money and an early return to the gold standard.

The report, submitted by a party committee to House Republicans yesterday, demanded discontinuance of the domestic silver purchase program and the President's authority to devalue the dollar further. It asked for greater restrictions on the Treasury's two billion dollar stabilization fund.

The monetary bill would continue these three features until June 30, 1941.

Repeal of the present Government silver purchase program and sale of the huge hoard of metal accumulated under it was urged before a Senate Banking subcommittee today by Herbert M. Bratter.

"Extremely Wasteful." The witness, formerly associated with the Commerce Department as an economist and now a writer, described the present silver program as "extremely wasteful" and "completely unnecessary."

He was the first to testify for legislation offered by Senator Townsend (Rep., Delaware), to wind up the silver purchase program.

"Every month's delay in repealing the silver program means that about $17,700,000 needlessly passes from the American people to sellers of silver," Bratter testified.

The Republicans proposed in their report yesterday that a Senate-House committee be established to work out changes in the monetary system, especially a means of bringing about an early resumption of specie payments.

The committee said its suggestions would end "all unsound and dangerous elements" in the present monetary system, stimulate recovery immeasurably, and restore confidence in Government.

Prices and Devaluation. The committee said the original devaluation of the dollar had "failed miserably" to support New Deal arguments that it would automatically raise prices by the full amount of devaluation, stimulate exports of farm products, and enlarge the monetary base so as to

SMOKELESS COAL BILL STUDY IN ILLINOIS

Subcommittee of Seven Named in the House to Consider Measure.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—A subcommittee of seven members of the Appropriations Committee, all from coal-mining districts, was named yesterday by Chairman Hugh Green to consider in detail a bill which sets up a $300,000 laboratory for experimenting with coal to make it smokeless.

Cal Johnson of Belleville, sponsor of the House bill, was chosen chairman of the subcommittee which includes William J. Lawler, Springfield; Paul Powell, Vienna; Andy O'Neill, Springfield; Joseph Russell of Robert J. Johnson, Springfield; and I. H. Streeter of Alton.

Johnson said today he expected the subcommittee to meet within the next few days. Later he says he will accept the offer of Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann of St. Louis to appear before the committee to explain the St. Louis coal ordinance which bars the shipment of much Illinois coal into Missouri.

At a previous meeting of the committee, an explanation of the bill was made by Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois Geological Survey, who declared that Illinois soft coal must be made smokeless or much of the billions of tons of Illinois coal reserves would be unsalable.

Alumnus Swallows 5000 Goldfish.

provide ample credit to finance business recovery.

Existence of the devaluation power, the report said, creates business uncertainty, and while its original purpose was to promote recovery, "it is now to be used as a club to force other nations to do as the President bids."

Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that extension of the fiscal authority was not linked with the European situation but with the general world economic conditions.

Chairman Somers (Dem., New York, of the House Coinage Committee, however, mentioned specifically the possibility of conflict in Europe in urging the extension.

VACATING MERAMEC BLOCK NEAR QUARRY APPROVED

Service Board Also Favors Permanent Closing of Part of Missouri Avenue.

A bill to vacate and abolish one block of Meramec street, from Piedmont to Missouri avenues, on the north side of the City Workhouse quarry, and to vacate a part of Missouri avenue along the quarry, will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen next week. It was approved yesterday by the Board of Public Service.

The Meramec street block was closed last week by the Board of Public Service because of danger to motorists resulting from slides of the quarry wall into the 80-foot pit. The Broadway-Meramec Improvement Association, formed last month because of neighborhood complaints about blasting at the quarry, has objected to closing of Meramec street, urging that a quarry be established elsewhere.

Miner Killed by Slate Fall. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19 (AP).—A slate fall yesterday in the Peabody Peerless Mine No. 59, three miles east of here, killed Stanley Pollis, 57 years old, and seriously injured Lorel Sullivan, 38.

JAPAN OFFICIALLY TAKES OVER GROUP OF PACIFIC ISLES

Decree Published on the Spratlys, 350 Miles From Philippines, Which France Claimed.

TOKYO, April 19 (AP).—The permanent nature of Japan's southward expansion was reaffirmed yesterday with publication in the official gazette of the decree of March 30 placing the Spratly Islands, a coral group in the South China Sea, under the jurisdiction of the Japanese Formosan government.

The move was intended to notify the world that the islands, which lie about 350 miles, respectively, from the Philippines, British North Borneo and French Indo-China, have become an integral part of Japanese Imperial territory and to forestall further French claims.

France in 1933 claimed the islands, which were discovered in 1867. They are important because of their strategic location and their lagoons, providing possible bases for submarines, seaplanes and small naval craft.

The decree as published yesterday covers all islands within the zone from 7 to 12 degrees north and 111 to 117 degrees east, extending the Japanese defense line 750 miles south of Formosa.

Japan, it was learned, intends to reject all representations from foreign governments regarding its action.

Note From Roosevelt Expected.
The newspaper Asahi said yesterday it had learned from American sources that President Roosevelt intends to send a personal note to the Japanese Government, perhaps similar to the non-aggression appeal sent last week to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

If this is not the exact nature of the note, Asahi said it probably will be an offer of the President's good services for calling a conference of Powers interested in the Far East in an attempt to settle current disputes, including the China war.

Asahi said the note would be dispatched following departure, expected in about a week, of the United States cruiser Astoria, which brought home the ashes of Hiroshi Saito, late Ambassador to the United States.

U. S.-British Pact Rumored.
The paper said the Japanese Government was considering the possibility of receiving such a note because the notes to Germany and Italy referred to the Far Eastern situation, because "a certain naval agreement is rumored to have been concluded between the United States and Great Britain regarding the Pacific and the Mediterranean," and because the main fleet of the United States has been ordered transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific "for some purpose."

Asahi predicted that Japan would refuse to participate in an international conference regarding the Far East.

If the note sent here is similar to that addressed to Berlin and Rome, Asahi said, Japan would reply that Roosevelt's views were based on a misunderstanding of the true situation in Europe.

White House, State Department Know of No New Note.
WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—
A State Department official said today the United States had long been ready to meet Japan and other Powers in a conference aimed at settling current disputes in the Orient. He called attention to this Government's Dec. 31 note to Tokyo in which the conference proposal was made. He said that so far Japan had not seen fit to reply.

The State Department and White House both said they knew nothing about a new note.

1880s was recalled by her death yesterday.

Eliza Sheldon Harrison Drummond, for whom Viscount Forth, grandson of the fourteenth Earl of Perth, relinquished station and wealth, died at 89 in the house in Brooklyn where she had lived for many years with her daughter.

The young man who would have been the fifth Earl of Perth eloped with her to Liverpool, and after the marriage they sailed for America.

Mayor of Harvey, Ill., Charged With Embezzlement, Also a Winner.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 19 (AP).—Mayor James D. Flynn and three other city officials who were indicted recently by a grand jury investigating vice and gambling near the University of Illinois were re-elected yesterday.

Flynn defeated Hubert E. Goodell, by 6092 to 4610. Also re-elected were City Commissioners Virgil Burgess, Walter Swearingen, and E. T. Bassett. All were charged with malfeasance in office in connection with law enforcement. A fourth commissioner, James F. Smith, also indicted, was defeated.

Two weeks before the municipal primary a university student was killed in front of a Negro resort. The university president and trustees demanded a State investigation of vice. The grand jury was recalled and an Assistant Attorney-General was appointed special prosecutor.

Last Thursday the grand jury returned malfeasance indictments against the entire city administration. Mayor Frank W. Bruggemann of Harvey, Ill., was re-elected. He defeated Frank G. Ring, 4841 to 1978. The Mayor has been charged with embezzling $10,000 from the town's water fund. He is free on bond.

WHY ICELAND WAS LEFT OFF

ROOSEVELT LIST OF 31 STATES

It Is Not On Or Immediately Adjacent to European Continent, U. S. Explains.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—The State Department took official notice yesterday of reports that Iceland was hurt over its omission from the list of 31 countries mentioned in President Roosevelt's appeal for peace to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

In a formal statement the department said: "Reports from Iceland indicate that there is some question in the minds of people there as to why that independent state was not included in the list of nations regarding whose territorial integrity inquiry was made of Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini."

"No significance whatsoever should, of course, be attached to the omission of Iceland, in which we have always had the most friendly interest but which is not on or immediately adjacent to the European continent."

Iceland is an independent country acknowledging the suzerainty of the King of Denmark.

MAN HELD HERE CONFESSES

GIVING SERIES OF BAD CHECKS

Arrested in Shoe Store, He Says Others Were Passed in Various Cities Recently.

A man who said he was Eric Lantman, arrested last night when he attempted to cash a check at the Haas Shoe Store, 4851 Delmar boulevard, has admitted passing worthless checks totaling more than $438 in various cities in the last four months, police announced.

In his pockets and in suitcases he had checked at Union Station on his arrival in St. Louis April 5, police reported finding 150 blank checks, 53 others made out for amounts ranging from $25 to $69 and two small printing outfits. Nine of the checks, including the one he was attempting to cash when arrested, were printed to resemble payroll checks of the Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corporation, Mart Building.

He had not yet cashed any checks in St. Louis, he said.

Lantman is 38 years old. Police said he admitted serving five jail and workhouse terms for disorderly conduct and on bad check charges.

FRANCO'S AGENTS RECOVER

59 SHIPS IN FOREIGN PORTS

Announcement Says Spain Will Again Aspire to Be Great Maritime Power.

BURGOS, Spain, April 19 (AP).—The National Service Maritime Communications organization announced today that 59 Spanish ships aggregating 312,486 tons had been recovered from foreign ports. Agents of Gen. Francisco Franco have been actively engaged since the close of the civil war in rounding up the ships which were taken to foreign ports by the Spanish Republicans and are continuing search for others.

The Maritime Communications organization asserted that "Spain must aspire to become a great maritime power for her defense and for her commerce" and that Spain is determined again to seek her glory and her riches by means of the sea.

The vessels turned over to Spain were in ports of the United Kingdom, The Netherlands, Belgium and Norway. The largest was the Aratzu Mendil, of 10,935 tons.

SUES TO DIVORCE C. H. TRAPP

Desertion Charged Against Advertising Agency Head.

Suit for divorce from Charles H. Trapp, president of the C. H. Trapp Advertising Agency, 722 Chestnut street, was filed in Circuit Court at Clayton today by Mrs. Katie Lee Trapp, 654 Fairview avenue, Webster Groves.

Mrs. Trapp charges desertion and general indignities, alleging her husband left her last August. The petition asks for alimony and custody of a 20-year-old daughter. The Trapps were married in 1918.

Two words of Vital Importance

Irradiated • Homogenized

In milk that is irradiated, the Vitamin D content is greatly increased by the utilization of ultraviolet rays. In milk that is homogenized, the cream particles are broken up and evenly distributed throughout the milk. The importance of Vitamin D—the "sunshine" vitamin—in the diet is an established medical fact. Homogenized milk is more readily digestible and every drop from the first to the last is uniform in food value. These are the reasons why Irradiated Homogenized Milk tastes better and is better for you. And remember, in this area only Pevely irradiates fresh milk. Have this doubly improved milk come into your home tomorrow. Order from the Pevelman or your favorite food store.

1000 ANSWER STRIKE CALL ON OIL SHIPPING LINES

Union Says 20 Tankers Have Been Tied Up By Dispute Over Hiring Halls.
NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—More than 1000 seamen were estimated by the National Maritime Union to have answered a strike call which union officers said tied up more than 20 oil tankers in Atlantic and gulf ports yesterday.

The strike was called after negotiations collapsed between the union and four oil companies. One of the chief points of difference was the union's demand for preferential union-operated hiring halls. Strike action against the Pennsylvania Shipping Co. and the Gulf Refining Co. was withheld when those firms agreed to the union's terms.

TRUTH AS A POSSIBLE LABOR ACT VIOLATION

Madden Testifies Employer's Statements Could Be Correct but Coercive.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Chairman J. Warren Madden of the National Labor Relations Board expressed the opinion today that an employer's statement to his worker might often be found to be a violation of the Labor Act even though true.

An employer who told his workers that their union representative was a Communist, Madden said, might be guilty of "coercion" to curtail union organization even though he spoke the truth. The question of legality, he said, would depend on surrounding circumstances.

Madden expressed his opinion in response to questions by members of the Senate Labor Committee at a hearing on proposals to amend the Labor Act. He said he did not wish to be committed, however, on any question of that kind which might come before the board in the future.

Senators Taft (Rep.), Ohio, Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, and Holt (Dem.), West Virginia, took sharp exception to Madden's views.

"The truth ought to be a defense," Ellender asserted.

Madden contended it would be "gross class discrimination" to prohibit union pickets from carrying truthful placards on banners but to permit employers to say anything they desired so long as it was true.

"I suppose that 10 times out of 10," Madden added, "the employer makes these statements for the very purpose of keeping his employees from joining the union. What else is he making them for?"

Under some circumstances, Madden suggested, an employer might call union representatives "robbers" when they asked higher wages and would not thereby violate the Labor Act. Under other conditions, he told the committee, the same expression would be clearly "coercive."

Taft interjected, "It seems to me an utterly foolish and unscientific method of interpreting a law of Congress."

Committee members interposed their questions after Madden had resumed reading a lengthy prepared statement, begun yesterday, defending labor board policies and operation of the Wagner Act.

ROOSEVELT SEES DANGER IN SUGAR BILL'S REVISION

The Ellender bill for comment, had requested him to set forth "the basic position" of the administration toward the proposed amendments.

The first part of the Ellender bill, Roosevelt said, contained the special exemptions from acreage adjustments required as a condition for benefit payments which would operate primarily for the benefit of large plantation companies in the mainland sugar cane area.

"Serious Discrimination." The President commented: "Such exemptions would not only constitute a serious discrimination against the domestic insular areas, particularly the island of Puerto Rico, in which area substantial adjustment of production this year is well under way, in compliance with the provisions of the act, but is also extremely unfair and unjust to the producer in all areas whose great sacrifices in prior years under former sugar programs are directly responsible for the favorable position enjoyed by sugar producers in the mainland cane area in recent years."

"It is unthinkable that plantation producers in the mainland sugar cane area should be relieved of any responsibility for their appropriate share of crop adjustment as a condition for payments."

Another amendment, the President said, "unfortunately" would remove the Sugar Act's protection to the "housewives of the nation" against sugar prices higher than necessary to maintain the domestic industry.

A third change, he continued, would reduce Puerto Rico's and Hawaii's share of the total domestic sugar quota and would deny them their proportionate shares of the large increase provided for in the bill for all domestic areas.

"Old-World Colonialism." "The bill would thus create a colonialism of the Old World type in the form of an underprivileged American citizen living in these particular insular parts of the United States," the President said.

"The imperialistic nature of such discriminations against some of our own citizens becomes clear when it is realized that although the Congress could legally destroy the economy of its insular possessions through such discriminatory trade restrictions, the American citizens in those areas would possess no legal right to defend themselves against such action by erecting trade barriers against products produced in the mainland."

The President said, too, that this amendment would call for a sharp reduction in the Cuban sugar quota which would curtail further "shrunken markets" for domestic agricultural exports "at a time when Congress and the administration are struggling with measures to expand such markets."

FATHER AND SON TO BE PUT TO DEATH TONIGHT AS KILLERS

Execution of Harry and Henry Dingleline, Along With Third Man, Scheduled in Ohio.
COLUMBUS, O., April 19 (AP).—Harry and Henry Dingleline, father and son, of Springfield, O., and Harry Chapman of Chicago, are scheduled to be executed in the electric chair shortly after 8 o'clock tonight for the killing of a Springfield policeman and deputy sheriff.

Before 56-year-old Harry Dingleline was the added ordeal of seeing his son go to the death chamber. Chapman is scheduled to die first, followed by the younger Dingleline, 29, and then the elder.

Gov. Bricker refused yesterday for a second time to intervene. The three were convicted of killing a patrolman Martin Randolph in a police raid on a resort at Crystal Lake. The Dinglelines also were convicted of killing Deputy Edward Furry in the raid.

RECEIVERSHIP SUIT AGAINST ORGAN-BUILDING FIRM HEARD

Attorney Describes Voting Trust Agreement for Control of George Kilgen & Son, Inc.
Trial of a receivership suit against George Kilgen & Son, Inc., organ builders, began yesterday before Circuit Judge Ernest F. Oakley with testimony describing a voting trust agreement for control of the firm arranged as a compromise of a previous receivership suit filed last year.

The testimony was by Joseph Renard, attorney for Eugene R. Kilgen, vice-president and former sales manager of the company, who filed the present suit. Renard also represented Max Hess, former chief engineer at the company's plant, 4016 Union boulevard, who was plaintiff in the suit last year.

Eugene Kilgen's petition charges mismanagement by his brother, George, who was president of the firm. One of the allegations is that Hess was discharged after the compromise last year, leaving the company without a skilled engineer in charge.

GOV. STARK ASKED TO SPEAK AT JEWISH WELFARE DRIVE

Mayor and Others Invited to Address Meeting April 30, Which Will Open Campaign.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark and Mayor Bernard F. Dickman have been invited to speak at a mass meeting Sunday evening, April 30, at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium, which will officially open the 1939 Jewish Welfare fund campaign here for $151,937.

Others scheduled to speak are Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland and Rabbi Joseph B. Wise of New York, co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, which is attempting to raise $2,000,000 in this country for the relief of European refugees.

This year's quota for the St. Louis area is more than twice the $226,700 obtained last year. Part of the fund will be used for the support of 23 Jewish welfare agencies which are not included in United Charities. In addition, national and international Jewish organizations, including those giving direct aid to Jews in Central Europe, will share in the proceeds. The campaign will continue through May 15.

DOCTORS WARN FOLKS WHO ARE CONSTIPATED

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY.

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, thoroughly cleanse the bowels but do not injure the system. They also assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail 15c, 30c, 60c.

STEEL PRODUCTION IS CUT FOR FIFTH WEEK

Great Britain Is Reported Canvassing U. S. Steel Mills for Certain Types.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Great Britain is canvassing United States steel mills for certain types of munitions "Iron Age" said today in its weekly review of the industry.

"Inquiries have been received in the United States for sizable quantities of shell steel and other munitions materials," the trade publication said. "These are coming chiefly from England and Canada."

Although steel production has been declining in the United States, the magazine continued, "a tighter steel situation is developing in Great Britain, where output of more than a million tons March, virtually capacity, is not yet satisfying urgent requirements of the Government for its armament program."

A drop in domestic input production for the fifth consecutive week, the review said, was of only 1 point this week, compared with three points last week. "Indicating, perhaps, that production has been brought into closer alignment with the armament program."

"The uncertainty which is affecting all branches of the industry reflects a break in the scrap market. The market break in 'The Iron Age' composite scrap prices in a year and half, amounting to 66 cents a ton, has brought this figure down to $14.42."

"Where it has for the influence of export transactions, prices in the East probably would have declined further."

They're IN THE MONEY

Mrs. Lillian S. Dodge's Salary Is $100,000 a Year

NEW YORK, April 19.

ONE of the highest paid business women in America has so successfully avoided the glare of publicity during her 30-year career that she is unknown except to a small circle of social and business acquaintances. She is Mrs. Lillian S. Dodge, wife of Robert L. Dodge, a stained glass artist, and president of her own company, Harriet Hubbard Ayer, Inc., one of the largest cosmetic firms in the world. Her salary for 1937 was $100,000.

It is fitting that the woman whose business products appeal strictly to the feminine half of the universe, should be an ardent feminist, not in the militant but in the practical sense of the word. In her huge plant hard by the East River at 223 East Thirty-fourth street, she employs more and better paid women than are on the payrolls of any other organization of comparable size. Down to the last factory girl who mechanically fills bottles and jars hour after hour, Mrs. Dodge keeps her wages consistently high.

Mrs. Dodge's native diligence, backed by a tireless energy and a calm and intelligent approach to her business problems, have been responsible for the building up of an international industry with 30,000 customers who trade in her stores in New York, Paris, London and Montreal. Her five business days each week, which begin at 10 in the morning and continue until between 6 and 7 each evening with no luncheon recess, are crowded with the multitudinous demands upon an executive who supervises every detail in her thriving organization.

IN SPITE OF the amount of work she accomplishes each day, Mrs. Dodge has the rare talent of never seeming hurried. Her desk is orderly and free from the letters, memoranda and personal gadgets which are the familiar paraphernalia of the American business woman, as she calmly concentrates on the immediate subject. Her office is quiet and restful with ivory walls and comfortable, unobtrusive furnishings.

Mrs. Dodge was born Lillian Sefton in Washington, studied music and became a singer without once thinking of a business career. It was only on the death of her first husband, Vincent B. Thomas, that she was forced to take the helm of his business which was named after a pioneer in the cosmetic field.

ALTHOUGH HER business interests bring her often to Paris, where she received the rank of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in 1929 for promoting Franco-American amity, Mrs. Dodge does not travel for pleasure. She finds her recreation in supervising her two homes, a town house on East Sixty-seventh street and the 90-acre estate at Mill Neck, Long Island. She has carefully furnished them herself and directs every detail with the help of a group of devoted servants who have been in her employ for many years. Her social life is limited because she has never permitted it to deprive her business of one minute of her time when needed.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
of Northwestern University

CASE L-188: Polly H., aged 19, graduated from high school a year ago with honors, and has been working in an office since then. "For three years I have dated one boy," she began. "We loved each other and talked frequently of marriage when he would be through college. He is a junior now. I thought we would surely get married, but now he tells me he thinks we are too young to consider marriage."

"He says he likes me, but doesn't love me any more. There isn't any other girl, he tells me, but he just thinks we made a mistake."

"I'm the first girl he ever had much to do with, for he was rather shy and uncertain of himself when we started dating. "Dr. Crane, I still love him and always shall. Isn't there a way by which I can make him love me again? I feel I can never marry any other man. What can I do?"

DIAGNOSIS: When Polly and her boy friend first fell in love she was 16 and he was 17. This was simply a puppy love affair, as most of these teen-age romances turn out to be.

A girl is very stupid, therefore, to figure on marriage when the odds are 10 to one that a year or so later she and her boy friend will scarcely be on speaking terms. Young men polish up their "sales talk" or "line" on their first sweethearts. They learn how to kiss from them. They feel like grown men when their sweetheart closes her eyes at that first kiss and snuggles against their shoulder. Such novel experiences are exhilarating to the young man of 16 to 20. His delight in the girl, therefore, is not so much love for her, as pleasure in thinking himself a man.

He uses the girl in somewhat the same fashion as he adopts cigarettes, or a pipe, or the wine glass. She is simply a sop to his masculine vanity, and serves to inflate his growing male ego. Of course he doesn't view himself in the manner I am taking today in dissecting such a youthful romance. He kids himself and the girl into thinking it is really love. Many of his most ardent protestations, however, are more to convince himself than to flatter the vanity of the girl.

HAVING LEARNED his first few lessons in love from this first sweetheart, he is ready to "graduate" from her company, and seek a woman a bit more sophisticated. If you are a man's first sweetheart, then be doubly cautious, or you'll wake up disillusioned a year or two hence.

A girl of 16 is too young to think of marriage, for girls nowadays seldom marry till in the twenties. And don't gamble with your self-respect when involved in a romance. A girl should always retain her self-respect and come out of one love affair better qualified for the next.

"DEAR MR. CULBERTSON: Surrounded as you constantly are by a group of experts (excuse me, masters) the mistakes of Mr. and Mrs. Average Player must be rather infrequent."

"Now take the following deal, played the other evening in a friendly foursome of rubber bridge. The players are, on the whole, considerably better than average; that is, average for bridge as she is played among the rank and file of social players. Use of Family Automobile by Young People

Those in Late Teens Should Not Drive If They Lack Mature Judgment.

By Angelo Patri

JIM is just past 18, but he is almost as big as he ever will be, and almost as heavy. He gets along well with his father and mother, especially with his father. He thinks that sometimes mother gets in too many details about eating and sleeping and bedtimes and phone calls. Father doesn't bother so much and he seems to get the idea better. So it was to get the idea better, "I suppose there isn't a chance of my taking the car tonight to take the gang to the school dance?" "Not a chance in the world. But there's every possibility that I could drive you to where you want to go and pick you up again." "Now that would be nice, wouldn't it? For Gosh sake, can't I be trusted with a car?" "You don't mean trusted with a car. What you mean is can't you take the gang to the car and feel free to drive anywhere and any way you wish. And to that, the answer is no. It's bad enough to risk your own neck, but you can't risk the necks of other children."

IF YOU ASK My OPINION By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM a junior in high school and almost 16 years of age. My trouble is that my voice is changing although the voices of friends the same age have changed long ago. I have a constant hoarseness or squeak in my voice which makes it seem as though I always have a cold. I am continually made the victim of jokes and fun because of my voice. Because of this I fear I am developing an inferiority complex. What can I do? This change has been going on for about a year. How much longer will it last? How can I avoid having this inferiority complex conquer me? HIGH SCHOOL JUNIOR.

WATCHING MOVIE-MAKERS WORK The Prevention Of Deafness is Aim of Science

HOLLYWOOD, April 19. THE most welcome sound heard on the sound stage of a movie lot is, first, a police whistle, then the command "Let 'er roll," "Turn 'em over," or whatever the director's favorite phrase is for announcing a scene ready to be shot. That is so to the visitor and must be infinitely more so to those concerned in the making of the picture.

AT LEFT, J. CARROL NAISS (LEFT) AND BRODERICK CRAWFORD IN A SCENE FROM "ISLAND OF LOST MEN." AT RIGHT, ANNA MAY WONG, STAR OF THE PICTURE.

By Marguerite Martyn Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

He says it. "Again," commands the director disgustedly. And so, on and on. The warrior doing the torturing, twisting the ropes tighter with stakes, is Tonto, of "Lone Ranger" fame on the radio, the one who has made "Heigh-ho-Silver" a popular greeting call among the youngsters. Script called for his doing a little scalping, but he refused lest such an act impair his radio popularity. THERE is some of the realism you hear about in movie acting the instant the cameras start rolling. Soldiers remain stretched and tied. No sounds are recorded except a few Indian grunts. The torturer works expertly through each re-take, so perhaps this shot will be a success. At Warner Bros., next day there is more activity. More sound stages are in operation. It is a more attractive lot too, since some attempt has been made to beautify the grounds with gardens outside the studios. There is space in the 90-acre lot for many background sets, streets, buildings, shops, villages, ships, left standing from former pictures in the hope they may with some alteration serve as future backgrounds and they are something to show the visitors. The commissary is open whereas it was closed for repairs at Paramount and here at luncheon are to be recognized many notables. Some are in make-up and costume, some in street dress for we are told it is the habit of movie actors off duty to take a business holiday hanging around the lot. Gale Page

Of Deafness is Aim of Science

Report Based on 15-Year Study Points Out Method of Procedure.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

AN impressive report on the prevention of deafness has just been published. It is impressive because it is based on a study which has been carried on for 15 years, because it has behind it the authority of Johns Hopkins Medical School, and finally because it points out a constructive method of procedure in order to prevent deafness. In a laboratory established in 1924 there have been accumulated a record of 15,000 tests with follow-up observations. By means of audiometers, such as have been devised by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, very accurate tests which detect the hearing reactions to sound vibrations of from 32 to 16,384 have been made. As the studies progressed it became evident that impaired hearing for high tones is extremely common in children as well as adults. The classic teaching has always been that "impaired hearing for high tones with good hearing for low tones" means an inner ear disease. But the frequency with which this condition was found, especially in children, caused some doubts to be thrown on this suggestion. These doubts were increased when some of the children, after removal of the tonsils and adenoids, regained their hearing for high tones. In others, long after tonsils and adenoids had been removed, and in those in whom the hearing for high tones was not regained, numerous nodules of adenoid-like tissue, or lymphoid tissue, were found around the lower end of the Eustachian tube, remember, is a hollow passageway that goes from the back of the throat to the middle ear. It provides an escape for air so the ear drum can move freely and allow perfect hearing. But it also provides a passageway for germs in the throat, especially in the adenoid tissue that surrounds its lower end, to enter the middle ear, causing middle ear infection and disease. Even after thorough removal of the tonsils and adenoids some islands of adenoid tissue may grow back around the throat end of the Eustachian tube and cause obstruction which alone would impair hearing. But they also threaten the middle ear with chronic inflammation and as time goes on this gets worse; in adult life it may lead to deafness. In the beginning the deafness is unnoticed because only hearing for vibrations of 10,000 to 16,000 is impaired. Ordinary conversation or singing can be perfectly understood if there is no impairment in the middle range of from 250 to 3,000 vibrations. In treatment after the condition is recognized—and this is by no means easy; in fact, impossible by ordinary methods—the first step is to protect the child in every way from colds, which stimulate the growth of this lymphoid tissue. Proper clothing, plenty of sleep and a nutritious diet are commanded. It is a mistake to put the child on an open porch or in a cold room at night. The most thorough surgical removal of all tonsillar and adenoid tissue is done. Then, if the lymphoid nodules grow back, application of small doses of radium are made. By carrying this sort of work out thoroughly, the observing doctors believe that the number of deaf adults in the next generation could be reduced by 50 per cent.

The Collegiate Swing By Arthur Murray

From His Book, "How to Become a Good Dancer."

CHAPTER ELEVEN.

THE Collegiate Swing is the simplest of all the Fox Trot variations and one of the most popular. It consists of only two walking steps and one change and when danced to modern slow Fox Trot music it has a delightful lulling swing.

You should already be familiar with the actual footwork on the floor since you already practiced such combinations of walking steps and changes, but I want you to practice the procedure shown in the diagrams first.

There are some points to remember: Tomorrow—The Westchester, another Fox Trot variation.

ON BROADWAY x x By Walter Winchell

THE First Nights: Charles Morgan, the London drama critic, and author of "The Flashing Stream," enjoyed no trans-Atlantic rolling when the American brothers called on him at the Billmore. In fact, the New Yorkers ganged up on him most brutally, and probably introduced him to a lot of name-calling adjectives he will find useful in future criticism. John Mason Brown called Morgan's opus, which has since closed, a cold job that sounded like "an essay on Casanova by Calvin Coolidge." Morgan also is a New York Times correspondent, but Brooks Atkinson, the N. Y. Times drama inspector, treated him like a distant relative. Courtney Burr made a noble try with "The Happiest Days," a drama paralleling a recent suicide pact between two kid lovers in Queens. The playing of Uta Hagen and John Craven was cheered, and the play called a tender study, but discounted as entertainment. William Saroyan, who seemingly writes on a flying trapeze, had a go at play-making when The Group offered his "My Heart's in the Highlands," already highly praised by its author. The jurors, while confessing they didn't savvy the setup, plugged it anyway.

The Magic Lanterns: Mickey Rooney and his regular cohorts show us more Hardy family maneuvers at the Capitol, further upholding the Yankee Doodle prestige. . . . It makes you feel as nice as a rainbow looks. . . . "Women in the Wind," by Mark Hellinger, stars Kay Francis at the Palace. Audiences respond more favorably than some critics. . . . Doug Corrigan is co-starred with his leather jacket, and emerges as a likeable kid with a million-dollar grin and a two-shilling story. . . . Nugent of the Times added: "It reveals that

CHAPTER 10

THERE was tea on the table in front of them, and cinnamon toast. The tea was cold now, and the toast untouched. Creel's rooms in the Silber building were 10 blocks away, and Andrea had forgotten everybody but Jeff. The little balcony where they sat was nearly empty, except for one other couple and a waitress who was hovering near the stairs.

"If you could only go with me," he said.

"If I could only go with you," she repeated, and it seemed as if she never would get enough of looking at him. She felt his hand close over hers. The caress of his fingers was as sweet as the caress of his lips when they had lingered on the stairs for a moment in Creel's building.

"You could, Andrea." His fingers tightened on hers, and she saw the muscles of his jaw harden and tense. She bent down her head, and touched his hand with her warm cheek.

"Andrea, listen to me!" "I'm listening," she said, and she laughed because she was so happy—happier she thought than she had ever been in her life before.

"You can go, there's no reason why you can't. I can't go alone, leaving you here, not hearing from you, and my letters, some of them may be months reaching you, if they get through to you at all. Don't you see, dear, that you have to go?"

"Don't Jeff, please!"—A moment ago she had been so content, and now she was remembering that Marie and Helen and Tom, must be looking for her, that some one of them, probably Marie, had called Emery park.

That Mrs. Emery knew what she had done. That she would have to go home to the park eventually, and that all she would have would be the memory of Jeff's kisses, of the tenderness of his arms round her.

"You told me you loved me, Andrea?" "I do love you. I love you more than anybody in the world, Jeff." Tears came into her eyes, and she blurred his face a little. "I don't think I ever knew what love meant until now."

"And I love you, my darling—more than anybody in the world. And you're going to be my wife, and we're going away together. We're sailing from New York on the Velho for Lima, Aug. 16."

"It will be all right with the company. Joyce is going so there can be no objection to you going, too." "It's mad, utterly mad, Jeff, but we can be mad together. Tomorrow we can be."

"Not so mad as you think, because it's what we're going to do. I'm going to see Mrs. Emery tomorrow, and explain everything to her."

"It won't do the slightest bit of good. She won't even see you, Jeff. You don't know her as I do. She won't listen. Let's don't talk about her any more, let's talk about ourselves, and plan for our selves and—"

He shook his head. "We've got to talk about Mrs. Emery. We've got to get that straight first before we can plan for ourselves. You said Mrs. Emery held your personal note for $175,000—"

"Please, Jeff—we have so little time, and to talk about that—"

"Andrea, we have to! What I propose to do is to go to Mrs. Emery. I stand to make a 12 per centage on all the oil fields I find—when they begin operating. I haven't begun to collect yet on the Mexican venture, but I shall soon."

"I may be able to clear the debt off in five years and then again I may take me 10. But I'll clear it, we'll both clear it together. I'll give her references if she wants them."

"The debt is mine, Jeff. It's not fair for you to assume it! It was never a fair debt in the first place, but we had to do everything Mrs. Emery's way. There was no other way."

"You blame Mother, I know, but she isn't to blame any more than the rest of us. She only did what she thought was right for all of us."

"The debt is mine, now that I love you and you're going to be my wife. Someway I'm going to pay it off." The matter was settled as far as he was concerned. She saw that there was no use speaking of her share in the debt again.

"We could take Billy, dear. He wants to go. He's been after me every day begging me to take him, and he would be useful to me, I'm pretty sure of that."

"And so they talked. Jeff told her about the Velho which would bring them to Lima. He had been on the ship before. It had taken him around the world on a jaunt he had made when he finished college."

She saw the ship while he was talking, its white hull riding the waters, the spray that dashed over the bow. The little dining salon where they would eat their meals with Joyce and Sam and the other 10 passengers the boat could carry."

HE felt the warm tropical sunlight and the quick sudden showers that would send them scurrying under shelter from the decks. And the lazy mornings when they would sit in their deck chairs and watch the blue waters, and the flying fish.

Glorious paradise, the Velho. She loved it, she loved its name, the decks Jeff was showing her, the cabins, the laughter in the evenings when the stars were so bright.

He told her, too, of the tents they would erect in the jungle and the feel of the jungle at night, the life of it, the breathing of it that

SYNOPSIS
ANDREA MARQUAND, 21, owes MRS. EDYTHE EMERY, her wealthy patroness, $175,000. This sum accumulated over an eight year period during which Mrs. Emery paid all the expenses of the Marquand family, including Andrea's education. In return, Andrea must be ready to sing every afternoon until Mrs. Emery decides she is ready for a debut in opera. Andrea's mother, LILLIAN MARQUAND, her sister, HELEN, and her brothers, RAY and BILLY, 15, and MARIE, the cook, are frantic when Mrs. Emery announces that Andrea is to sing and the girl cannot be located. Andrea appears and ALBERTO CRISTIAN, her voice teacher, rushes Andrea to the music room where Mrs. Emery awaits her "performance." Andrea is thinking of her appointment with the handsome, strange man outside Emery park the next day, when she notices Mrs. Emery's face is mask-like, indicating displeasure, and never says better. Mrs. Emery thought her voice was "good." That evening Andrea asks Billy the identity of the couple and the young man who live in the nearby house. Jeff tells her that on a trip to town, Andrea meets Jeff and he tells her he leaves in a month for a two-year South American expedition. She tells him to wait for her the next day at the same time. Next day Billy appears at Jeff's cabin and tells Andrea their secret tunnel under the hill surrounding Emery park has been discovered. Mrs. Emery summons Kyle Newton and tells him she is planning to have Andrea marry Kyle. Kyle, who loves Andrea, is stunned. Andrea unlocks her desk drawer to read Jeff's last love letter and is furious to find someone has read her letters and stolen them. She tells Helen and Marie, Mrs. Emery's spy, that she has an elevator into the arms of Jeff.

could be felt and heard. He loved the jungle, and he wanted her to love it, too. Of the dreams they would have on the quiet nights, of the black people that would come to them. The tea cups were still in front of them when the first of the dinner patrons of the shop came in. Neither Andrea nor Jeff noticed the newcomers, nor did they hear the chatter that started around them.

It was only when the waitress came up to them, and asked them if they cared to order dinner that they looked up astonished, and found themselves back at the table.

"We could have dinner, Andrea. You don't have to go yet." He looked at his watch. It was quarter of six.

"I do, Jeff." Back in the car the spell of the Velho and the spell of the South American jungle was broken. Andrea was silent as they drove along. Her mind was muddled with a hundred worries. What would happen when she and Jeff reached the gates. The storm that would greet her when she got to the house. Mrs. Emery, whether she would receive Jeff tomorrow, and

For Thursday, April 20. KEEN and fast moving day with plenty of openings for the bright boy and girl to do things in new ways that will probably prove successful. Put your best ideas and plans to the test of action; do something as well as you can.

Individual Problems. Are you prepared to accept the idea that each human being has a particular set of problems to solve the moment he or she is born? If not, what would be the purpose of this life in the otherwise well ordered universe? It's difficult for some folks to accept this idea, and still more difficult not to, if deep thought is put on the matter. Most philosophers have accepted it.

Your Year Ahead. Your year ahead till next year celebrate is one of personal reaping—be honest, wipe slate clean and be ready for new opportunities that begin first week of next April and on. Danger: May 9-June 1; July 4-Sept. 29; and Feb. 3-21, 1940.

Friday. A strong and generally good set of celestial buzzes; think, then act.

Roylege!

Roylege is excellent taste. Decorators have used it in model kitchens and closets. It is attractive, practical, thrifty. The embossed, curl-proof edge needs no tacks, no laundering. A dust cloth keeps it clean, and it lasts a whole season.

Roylege is so popular that every 5¢ and 10¢ department and neighborhood store carries a host of new patterns to match other home furnishings. 9 feet for 5¢. (Also 10¢ packages.) You'll see that good street doesn't need a fancy price. Roylege, 99 Gold Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

IDEA: Save laundry and improve table service with ROYLEGE - the radio-advertised doilies. 5¢ and 10¢ a package.

SUIT TO CANCEL UNION ELECTRIC'S CHARTER IS FILED AT ST. CHARLES

Prosecutor David A. Dyer Begins Action to Oust Utility From Conducting Business in State for Po litical Activities.

ALLEGES VIOLATION OF CORRUPTION LAW

Charges Based on Disclos ure by the Post-Dispatch
That Company Subscribed Money to Campaign Funds of Candidates.

Forfeiture of the corporate char ter of Union Electric Co. of Mis souri for alleged violation of the State Corrupt Practices Act is asked for in a suit filed today in Circuit Court at St. Charles by Prosecuting Attorney David A. Dyer.

The suit grows out of disclosures made by the Post-Dispatch last January that Union Electric Co. had contributed financial aid to certain favored candidates in St.
Charles municipal elections in 1937 and 1938 and had placed one of its employees on the staff of the St.
Charles Cosmos-Monitor in the guise of a news reporter to con duct propaganda against a move ment for a municipal electric plan in St. Charles which is now under review by Union Electric.

"Perversion of Franchise." Alleged unlawful acts of the com pany in connection with the St.
Charles elections are said in the suit to have been "a great harm and injury to the public and to its (Mis souri's) form of government and are a perversion and a misuse of the franchises granted to it by the State of Missouri."

These acts, the suit asserts, con stitute "usurpation of franchises and privileges not granted to it (the company) by the State of Missouri all to the great injury of the gen eral public of the State of Mis souri."

Union Electric Co. of Missouri a Missouri corporation, is a sub sidiary of the North American Co.
one of the largest public utility holding companies in the United States. It owns the huge Kankakee and Bagnell hydroelectric plants and distributes electricity in St.
Louis and adjacent Missouri coun ties and, through subsidiaries, in East St. Louis and some other Illi nois and Iowa communities.

The Missouri Corrupt Practices statute (section 10,478, Revised Statutes of 1929) makes it unlaw ful for corporations to attempt to influence the results of elections or in any manner to procure the elec tion of any person or persons by the use of money, directly or indirectly, or to contribute to the campaign funds of any individual or party.
The statute provides that as a pen alty for violation the Circuit Court may adjudge the charter of a guilty corporation to be forfeited and may enjoin the corporation from trans acting any business in the State.
Besides asking for the forfeiture of the company's charter, Dyer's peti tion also asks that the corporation be enjoined from doing business in the State. This would not prevent the operation of utility properties owned by the company, under or ders of the court.

The suit charges specifically that in the city election of April, 1937, Union Electric Co. subscribed money to the campaign fund of Mayor Edward J. Schnare, who was an unsuccessful candidate for re-election, and to the campaign funds of C. W. Westerfeld, Oscar Koester and Harry L. Chrismier, candidates for the City Council, and also paid for campaign literature favoring these candidates and for precinct workers engaged in pro moting their candidacies, and other wise endeavored to procure the elec tion of the particular candidates.

It charges also that in the city election of April, 1938, when four councilmen were to be elected, the company similarly sought to pro cure the election of Richard Nor den, Raymond Buerger, Louis F.
Ebeling and Frederick A. Web beler.

Reimbursed for Campaign Gifts.
As has been told, William F.
Waye Jr. of St. Charles, an attor ney for the Union Electric Co., ad mitted to the Post-Dispatch last Jan. 20 that he had contributed funds to be used in the 1937 and 1938 elections in behalf of certain candidates and said the company had reimbursed him for the ex penditures.

Before the 1938 city election, the suit asserts, Union Electric Co. caused to be prepared and paid the cost of preparing, a card index of all qualified voters for use in try
